Quad's vax push for global good

To be manufactured by this year-end for world outreach; Japan, US to fund initiative

PUSHKAR BANAKAR @New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday participated in the first-ever Quad Summit meet virtually where a combined initiative to boost India's vaccine manufacturing capacity was announced even as sources said the stand-off against China on the LAC, too, came up for discussion.

Dwelling on the vaccine initiative, Foreign Secretary Harsh Vardhan Shringla said it will leverage strengths from each of the member countries to achieve the target of manufacturing one billion doses by the end of next year. "Japan and the US will finance the initiative while Australia will provide logistical support to the programme," Shringla said.

A joint statement, titled Spirit of the Quad, released after the summit, said the four countries will expand safe, affordable, and effective vaccine production and equitable access to hasten economic recovery and benefit global health. CONTINUED ON: P9

Seniors still wary of jab in many districts

IFFATH FATHIMA @Bengaluru

WHILE Karnataka has vaccinated over two lakh senior citizens aged over 60, several districts have shown poor turnout among the eligible sections. Districts officials pointed out that apprehensions among people about the vaccine was why some are hesitant to take the jab.

According to data from the Department of Health and Family Welfare, as of March 11, the total number of people vaccinated was 2,17,085. However, districts like Yadgir, Chamarajanagar, Haveri, Koppal and Bagalkot showed lower turnout, not even exceeding 1,500-plus vaccinations in each of the districts. Yadgir fared the worst with only 584 senior citizens getting vaccinated, followed by Chamarajanagar with 818 individuals, while Haveri had 1,187 individuals followed by Koppal at 1,235 and Bagalkot at 1,397.

With the Health Department estimating the population of 60 years and above as per 2011 Census projections, Yadgir has over 85,659 senior citizens. But with only 584 of them having got the jab, the total achievement of the district stands only at 0.7 per cent. While Chamarajanagar is at 0.8 per cent, Haveri and Bagalkot have achieved 0.9 per cent and Koppal 1.2 per cent. P3

Factory output -ve, retail inflation up

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

DASHING hopes of a sustained economic recovery, industrial production slipped back to the negative zone by contracting 1.6% in January. And, retail inflation in February shot up to 5.03% driven by food prices and crude oil. The contraction in Index of Industrial Production (IIP), which measures factory output, comes after a 1.56% growth in December 2020.

According to data released by the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation on Friday, the manufacturing sector output contracted 2% in January, while the mining output declined 3.7%. Meanwhile, power generation grew 5.5% in January.

The worst performance was witnessed by the capital goods sector, which recorded a contraction of 9.6% during the month under review, followed by a decline of 6.8% in the consumer non-durable section and 0.2% in the consumer durables segment.

"We remain circumspect regarding the intensity of the rebound in household consumption immediately after the vaccine rollout widens, as some categories of households may choose to rebuild the savings that they had drained during the lockdown and post-lockdown period," said Aditi Nayar, Principal Economist, ICRA. ZOMATO CASE

DELIVERY BOY IS THE VICTIM, FEEL NETIZENS

As police continue probe, food delivery platform waits to get both sides of story

MG CHETAN @Bengaluru

THE recent incident in which a Zomato delivery boy allegedly assaulted a model and makeup artist, has left social media divided. Many have come out in support of the delivery boy and asked the woman to put an end to the issue, while many have called the incident a 'publicity stunt'.

On March 9, the day the alleged incident took place, Hitesha Chandranee, a 31-year-old resident of Doddathogur, had posted her photos and videos accusing Kamaraj, a 28-year-old delivery boy with Zomato, of punching her in the nose. She had alleged that her food was delivered almost an hour late, and he attacked her when she was speaking to customer care, requesting a refund.

The next day, Electronics City police arrested Kamaraj after Hitesha filed a complaint, and released him on station bail. However, police said Kamaraj had given his statement claiming he did not assault the woman, but it was she who allegedly made him wait for an hour and then threw slippers at him and attacked him.

"While he tried to save himself from her, she injured herself with the finger ring she was wearing. We are investigating the case further," police said.

Meanwhile, Zomato CEO Deepinder Goyal tweeted that the company was in touch with Hitesha and Kamaraj, "We are in constant touch with Kamaraj, extending all possible support to make sure both sides of the story come to light and that due process is followed in the spirit of fairness."

Although Kamaraj has been temporarily suspended from active deliveries, the company is covering his earnings and legal expenses. "Also for the record, Kamaraj has made 5,000 deliveries for us so far, and has a 4.75/5 star rating on our platform (which is one of the highest), and has been working with us for 26 months now (these are facts, not opinions, or inferences)," Goyal tweeted.

Many users commented on Hitesha's video on Instagram, calling her claims a 'publicity stunt'. While one posted "playing victim card well", another commented, "First of all please consider delivery boys as human beings", and another said, "Just accept and move on rather than creating a ruckus, at least that guy would not be jobless."

Hanumanthu, a former rider with Zomato, said such allegations are not new. "When we go to deliver food and something goes wrong, everyone is in favour of the customer because we are strangers. Delivery boys are at high risk. While 99 per cent of customers throw no tantrums, a few create problems."

Namma Metro's fifth tunnel boring machine begins drilling underneath Rashtriya Military School, towards Langford Town on Friday. It will drill for 650 metres after which it will be dismantled

Metro tunnelling work begins from Army School side

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE first indigenously assembled tunnel boring machine (TBM) of Namma Metro began burrowing through the soil beneath the Rashtriya Military School towards Langford Town on Friday. This marks the first step taken towards completing the 650-metre stretch that it would drill over many months.

The TBM, operated by AFCONS Infrastructure Limited, made its first move 60 feet beneath the ground at 9.30 am. This is the fourth TBM that has begun drilling for the 13.92-km underground network between Nagawara and Diary Circle.

Speaking to TNIE, a source said, "The TBM, which is yet to be christened, covered only a miniscule distance on Friday. The crucial development is that tunnelling has begun. There are 60 people operating the machine. It will drill for till 650 metres, after which it will be dismantled and lifted to the ground level and transported by road again to the Military School. The parts will have to be lowered again to begin work from the same spot for the second tunnel."

It has taken 37 days since the first part of the machine was lowered to facilitate the drilling. "On February 4, the 'middle part' of the machine was sent below using a special 700-tonne gantry crane, an equipment used by the BMRCL for the first time. Later, the cutter head and the tail were lowered and the machine was assembled as one.

The machine's parts were manufactured in Germany by TBM maker Herrenknecht, imported to Chennai, assembled there and transported via road to Bengaluru.

This is the fifth TBM of BMRCL that has been lowered 60 feet below and the fourth to begin tunnelling. The UG corridor has been divided into four packages and the drilling launched on Friday is referred to as the 'first package', the source said.

TBM Avni is drilling from Shivajinagar to MG Road and has completed 300 metres. TBM Lavi, that is supposed to drill along the same direction is on the verge of commencing drilling. TBM Urja, drilling from Cantonment to Shivajinagar, has completed 375 metres, while TBM Vindhya, which began in the same direction has has covered 288 metres.

INGENIOUS TOOL

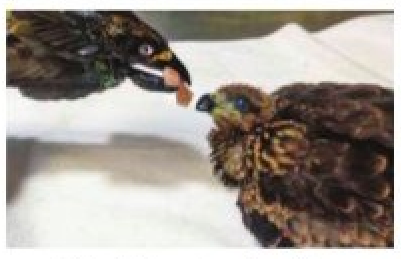
Just like mom: Prosthetic feeder for orphaned kite chicks

DONA DEY @Bengaluru

WHILE there is no substitute for mother's love, in times of crises, some technology sprinkled with compassion, might make a big difference.

In what is seen as a revolutionary step in the country's wildlife care sector, a city-based NGO has developed a prosthetic device that can feed orphaned nestlings, giving them a new lease of life.

On March 5, People for Animals (PfA), Bengaluru, rescued a kite nestling, which had fallen from its nest and separated from its mother. In a bid to feed it, PfA shelter curator Karthik Prabhu devised the tool – which is made of kite feathers with a beak at the end, thus replicating the mother. The mother kite's sounds are also played in the background while feeding it.



A kite chick receives food from the prosthetic feeder

"We don't want animals to depend on humans for food, which can lead to human-animal conflict. We also want the nestling to feel its mother's presence while it's being rehabilitated," said Col Dr Navaz Shariff, chief veterinarian and general manager, PfA.

Although they have developed a feeder only for black kite nestlings at the moment, Karthik said they are planning similar tools to help feed other wild birds and animals too. "We also plan to create such feeders for aquatic birds and macaques," he said, adding that while they rescue nestlings in various conditions demanding different ways to be cared for, the feeder needs to be customised accordingly.

On March 6, Central Zoo Authority, New Delhi, a statutory body of the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change, shared a video of the device on its Twitter handle. Gowri Mallapur, veterinary consultant at CZA, said, "This technique has been used globally for a while now to prevent imprinting. However, the technology is species-dependent and avoiding imprinting is just one of the many considerations. One needs to do much more than feeding."

POCKET-FRIENDLY INNOVATION

The design of the feeder is not just innovative, but pocket-friendly. The handle resembles a tongue-like tool similar to the one used to scoop out dead fish from aquariums. The body's skeletal structure is made of thermocol, which is reinforced with glass and glue to make it durable. It is then covered with white cement and feathers to make it appear realistic.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Financial affairs are very important and professional matters could be rising up the ladder of priorities, but it is events in the world with which you have no direct personal connection which continue to exert a powerful influence on your thoughts.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
A philosopher once said that 'in my beginning is my end', suggesting all future possibilities are within us even before we start. As the Moon plays its part today, it would be worth pondering what sort of future you are creating for yourself, and make it a good one!

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
Today's emotional Moon takes you right away from materialistic concerns towards the inner meaning of everything you do. Your spiritual values will help you assess what is worthwhile. Only you know what these really are, so your conscience should be your guide.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
Excellent social stars urge you to get out and about. The best arrangements are those based on joint activities, perhaps with a real purpose. Any sense of achievement will contribute towards a contented day. It's a good idea to press on with tasks that really matter to you.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Recent failures can be turned into triumphs with extra determination. This is a competitive time which naturally suits all sporting types but, for all of you, the critical decision will be when to leave the starting block. You have about three days at the outside.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There could be legal matters to sort out, travel plans to arrange, and ethical questions to ponder. This is a day for adventure, and it really doesn't matter what you do as long as you stretch yourself. You should also keep a close eye on rising costs.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You may benefit immensely from partners' enthusiasm. It's also an excellent day for pursuing business ventures. Large purchases are suggested, but the key is to be found in other people's involvement. Those in the housing market can hope for rapid progress.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Partners are sure to dig their heels in. However, the more certain they appear, the greater their secret confusion. Therefore, you must be sensitive and sympathetic, and at all costs don't come on like an emotional battering ram - you'll only drive people away!

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Stay active and realise that the best relationships are those based on joint interests. In love, pure passion fades, and something needs to be found to take its place. That is why this is a fine moment to put emotional partnerships on a sounder footing.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It's a promising day for all competitive activities and creative pursuits. It's also a moment to let your hair down and remember that it doesn't matter whether you're young or old. What's important is to be young at heart, and take each day as it comes.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
There's a strong chance of major improvements at home, but it's not a hundred per cent certain. What is undeniable is that family relationships lie at the exact centre of everything that you do. Even people who are a long way away can have an impact on your emotions.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Short journeys are important, but it's probably more necessary to keep others informed as to your thoughts and plans. The decisions you take now should be practical. There's no point in keeping your head in the clouds. Educational projects should go well.

Don't worry, take vaccine to defeat Covid, says CM

Yediyurappa, Health Min Sudhakar took Covaxin on Friday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa and Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar on Friday took the first dose of the indigenous Covid-19 vaccine, Covaxin, at Victoria Hospital in Bengaluru.

Dr K Sudhakar, a doctor himself, took the vaccine under the frontline workers' category.

Speaking to the media after emerging from the hospital after 30 minutes of observation post vaccination, Yediyurappa appealed to the people to take the vaccine without anxiety, to prevent the spread of Covid-19. "Let each one of us join hands in making India and Karnataka Covid-free," said 78-year-old Yediyurappa. It may be recalled that the CM had tested positive for Covid-19 in August 2020, and was admitted and treated at a private hospital in Bengaluru.

Yediyurappa said he took the first dose of the Made in India Covid-19 vaccine at Bangalore Medical College, and urged all those eligible to register themselves and get vaccinated at the earliest.

Prior to the vaccine being administered to him, doctors at the hospital examined the CM's pulse and blood pressure. He was then informed that he was receiving the first dose of Covaxin -- developed by Hyderabad-based Bharat Biotech -- and would have to take the second dose 28 days later. He was also informed that he would have to be under observation for 30 minutes after taking the jab.

Yediyurappa interacted with the hospital staff to get information about the ongoing vaccination drive and if people were complaining about side-effects.

"We have taken Covaxin. We appeal to all those eligible to come forward and register themselves for taking the vaccine without any anxiety," said Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar. He urged people to educate and encourage others and join hands in making India and Karnataka Covid-free.

Door-to-door campaign on to increase turnout

SOME district officials said the low turnout was due to apprehensions among people while others said commuting to Primary Health Centres (PHCs) was an issue.

Chamarajanagar District Health Officer (DHO) Dr KH Prasad said, " The response in has been very low. There still is hesitancy. We are trying to motivate senior citizens to get vaccinated. I had a meeting with some NGOs, wherein the volunteers will go door to door, meet senior citizens and create awareness. A meeting was held with the Panchayat Raj department and they will also hold meetings to convince people to get vaccinated. We hope this will help and the turnout will get better."

Dr Sindumathi Patil, DHO of Yadgir, said, "In the initial week, we wanted to gauge people's response. The turnout was bad -- the district did not cross 400 vaccinations in the first week. We noticed that there is a better Polio vaccination turnout, as it happens door to door. So, we decided to send ASHAs door-to-door to bring senior citizens. The deputy commissioner is now planning to make transport available for vaccination."

Alakananda Malagi, DHO of Koppal, said that they have asked health officials to create awareness in the district. "In the coming days, we will have good results," she said.

DISTRICT SCORE CARD

Bengaluru Urban has fared the best so far, with 10% of 91,312 elderly people vaccinated as on March 11, followed by Tumakuru with 19,419 (7.2% coverage) and Mysuru at 10,101 (3.6%)

Strict action needed now: BBMP chief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

SINCE economic and all other activities have resumed, strict measures need to be taken, or else, things will go out of control as the situation is serious, Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Commissioner N Manjunatha Prasad said on Friday.

He was speaking during a meeting with health officials, doctors of primary health care centres, referral hospitals and maternity homes. Dr Giridhar Babu, member of the state advisory committee, BBMP Special Commissioner for health Rajendra Cholan and Special Commissioner for solid waste management D Randeep were also present.

He directed health officials and marshals to take stern action against people who do not follow norms and close down commercial establishments such as malls, hotels, restaurants and conventional halls, if people violate norms.

"The positivity rate is now beyond 1%. The only way to bring it down is to increase testing. Now, at least 50,000 tests should be done per day. Also, the vaccination target also needs to be increased to 50,000 a day, if herd immunity is to be achieved. Asha workers and health officials should start registering slum dwellers and those who are not technologically sound or educated and bring them to PHCs to get them vaccinated. Contact tracing needs to be more aggressive. People in home isolation should also be checked on a daily basis," the Commissioner said.

Orders will be issued and owners of establishments will be warned of stern action if prescribed guidelines are not adhered to. Police will also be roped in to check on people on roads and marshals will also check taxis.

Prasad also said that since Covaxin is also being given, those taking the jab need not sign any consent form.

"That cases are rising is an indication that we are slipping up somewhere. The new variants from Brazil, South Africa and Israel are more infectious. So, contact tracing is very important and even we miss cases by a few days, it will be a problem. Data entry and tabulation should be automatic everywhere as time is wasted in manual entry and verification," said Dr Babu.

He said that health staff must go back to checking on people with comorbidities, ILI and SARI. There is also a need to check on people with symptoms, as in cluster cases, it has been observed that such people were found to be positive. It is also important to check on travel history in cluster cases as those who tested positive had travelled recently.

Cholan said that around 35,000 tests are being done every day and needs to be increased.

CIVIC BODY ISSUES GUIDELINES TO EATERIES

BBMP Commissioner N Manjunatha Prasad held a meeting with restaurant and hotel associations on Friday, and directed members to ensure that their staff are tested once a fortnight, especially those associated with food delivery. Covid norms should be followed, failing which action will be taken against owners

- Cooking and serving staff to wear gloves
- Distance of 6-ft must be ensured between tables, standing customers
- RT-PCR test to be done once in 15 days, Palike teams will take samples and testing will be free of cost
- Customers without masks not to be allowed; masks to be removed only while eating and drinking
- Marshals to keep close watch on roadside eateries impose fines if norms are not followed
- Staff with symptoms, to be isolated immediately

Gokak MLA to approach Special Investigation Team on Monday; FIR to be filed, based on ex-minister's complaint, to help probe

CD-Gate: Ramesh may name 2 leaders in plaint

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @Belagavi

THE political rivalry of Ramesh Jarkiholi with two high-profile politicians may have led to the CD scandal which has put the political career of the former Water Resources Minister in deep crisis.

Sources said that all the five people, including a woman, were detained on Friday by the Special Investigation Team (SIT) in connection with the release of a sleazy CD involving Ramesh. The sources said that all the five were closely associated with an important politician and were seen with him on several occasions over the last few years. "One of the five detained was trying for a ticket to contest election, and was taking the help of the leader," they said.

Ramesh is expected to file an official complaint with the Special Investigation Team on Monday.

Supreme Court Advocate KV Dhananjay said, "Once Special Investigation Team receives the complaint, it is registered as an FIR. The SIT will then be equipped with powers to investigate the case, because they are investigating it now on behalf of the local jurisdictional police."

He is expected to name two popular politicians in the complaint. Ramesh has been at loggerheads with these leaders over important local issues, sources said.

Ramesh and his brother Balachandra Jarkiholi, who is the Karnataka Milk Federation chairman, are likely to brief the media once the FIR is filed on Monday, sources said.

Another brother, Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee working president Satish Jarkiholi, said, "The government's decision to form an Special Investigation Team to investigate the case is fair enough, but those involved in the CD scandal would be punished only if an FIR is filed. A fair trial should be conducted into the incident."

He denied that he had gone to Nidagundi village to meet the family of the woman, who was seen in the CD, and called it as a 'media creation'.

There are many gangs that exclusively work on developing such CDs of politicians and handing them over to their political rivals for financial gain. There are such CD manufacturing factories in the state. They are run by two political leaders

THEY are said to have links to the CD controversy and are believed to be involved in a conspiracy while distributing the videos to television channels."

Another officer said, "Some of the suspects who were involved in the scandal have been detained based on a tip-off. Dinesh Kallahalli also may be questioned in the case as he had approached the city police commissioner to file a case. Later, Kallahalli decided to withdraw the case alleging that former CM H D Kumaraswamy was diverting the issue by stating that it was a case of extortion involving a deal of ₹5 crore."

However, Additional Commissioner of Police (West) Soumendu Mukherjee, who is heading the investigation, neither denied nor confirmed the developments. He told The New Indian Express, "It is too early to reveal anything about the probe which has begun. We do not want to share any details at this stage."

On March 2, Dinesh Kallahalli met Bengaluru Police Commissioner Kamal Pant to demand a detailed probe into the alleged scandal involving the BJP leader and alleged that he had cheated a woman, promising her a government job, and allegedly threatened her with dire consequences after she recorded their private moments. The leader later resigned as minister following the alleged scandal.

BJP PACKS POWER FROM K'TAKA COAST FOR KERALA CAMPAIGN

VINCENT D'SOUZA @Mangaluru

THE BJP, which is leaving no stone unturned to garner votes in Kerala, has deployed more than three dozen party leaders from Dakshina Kannada, Udupi and Kodagu districts in Karnataka to look after the management of its election campaign. The leaders, who include sitting and former legislators, will focus on 38 Assembly constituencies, mostly in the Kerala coast, where the party hopes to do well.

Party spokesperson in Karnataka, Capt. Ganesh Karnik, who has been given the responsibility of Konni Assembly constituency in Pathanamthitta district, from where Kerala state BJP president K Surendran is likely to contest, said the party leaders from the coastal districts have been chosen for the job because they have better connect with coastal Kerala.

Karnik, who is on a two-day break from his poll duties, said their task is not to supervise or monitor, but includes poll management like working with the party cadres there in activities related to booths, door-to-door visits, talking to smaller groups and trying to help them reach out to voters. The leaders were handpicked for constituencies where they need to work, following an analysis by the party.

BJP spokesperson in Karnataka Capt. Ganesh Karnik addresses a party workers' meeting in Kerala

Party MLAs Vedavyas Kamath from Mangaluru City (South) and U Rajesh Naik from Bantwal flew to Kerala on Friday and are expected to return for the ongoing Karnataka legislature session. Kamath, who is helping out the party cadres in Thrissur, said almost all legislators from the three districts have been assigned poll duty and hoped to do well by making use of the strategies that have worked for the party in the Karnataka coast.

Dakshina Kannada district unit BJP president M Sudarshan said party leaders and workers who can converse in English or Malayalam have been given the responsibility in constituencies beyond Kannur while others will mainly work in Kasaragod district.

Surdarshan said many more leaders from the state are likely to join the campaign job in Kerala during the last 10 days of public campaign if the elections to Zilla and Taluk panchayats in Karnataka are not announced by then.

AICC on Friday submitted a list of 30 campaigners, including Sonia Gandhi, Manmohan Singh, Rahul Gandhi, Priyanka Gandhi, Mallikarjun Kharge, Ashok Gehlot, BK Hariprasad and others to the Election Commission. "I will be going to West Bengal to campaign after March 15 and we will give a good fight in the polls," Hariprasad told TNIE.

Less funds: JDS MLAs to protest in Assembly

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Hassan

FORMER minister and JDS leader H D Revanna on Friday said that his party MLAs will stage a dharna in the Assembly on Monday, protesting against the "stepmotherly treatment meted out to constituencies represented by the party by the Yediyurappa government."

The decision was taken at a recent JDS Legislature Party meeting chaired by former chief minister H D Kumaraswamy. Revanna accused the State Government of neglecting projects sanctioned by Kumaraswamy during the Congress-JDS coalition government. Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri has also been informed about the dharna, he added. Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa should come out with a white paper on development works sanctioned and funds released to all assembly constituencies since the BJP came to power in the state, he demanded.

Minister for Large and Medium Scale Industries Jagadish Shettar inspects the Mulawad Industrial area in Vijayapura district on Friday

Will focus on Tier-2, Tier-3 cities: Shettar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Vijayapura

MINISTER for Large and Medium Scale Industries Jagadish Shettar on Friday said that the State Government is committed to developing Tier-2 and Tier-3 cities in the state as industrial hubs.

"Not just Bengaluru... Other cities in the state too should be developed as industrial hubs and the government is making sincere efforts towards that," Shettar told reporters after inspecting the newly developed 3,000-acre industrial area at Mulawad.

He said that the last couple of decades saw new industries come up only in and around Bengaluru. But now, the government is planning to decentralise industrialisation from Bengaluru. "To achieve this, the government is working on developing the necessary infrastructure for industries in Tier-2 and Tier-3 cities. Hubballi-Dharwad and Belagavi have been attracting investors in recent years as they have all the necessary infrastructure, including air connectivity," he said, adding that airports are being developed at Shivamogga and Vijayapura which have the potential to attract industries and generate jobs.

On the steps taken by the Yediyurappa government to boost investment, Shettar said that 'Invest Karnataka' -- an investors' meet -- will be held at all major districts starting from Dakshina Kannada on March 20. Similar events will be held in Mysuru, Kalaburagi and other districts, he added.

Not just Bengaluru... Other cities too should be developed as industrial hubs and the government is making sincere efforts towards that

With Madhu's entry, Congress eyes Ediga votes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

GREAT expectations mark Madhu Bangarappa's entry into the Congress. The son of former CM S Bangarappa, who was welcomed effusively by Congress president D K Shivakumar, is being looked upon as the carrier of his father's legacy, and by association, the Ediga votes.

Karnataka in-charge general secretary Randeep Surjewala, former CM Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar have all indicated to Madhu Bangarappa to bring back to the Congress what it lost when the legendary Sarekoppa Bangarappa left to form his own party, the Karnataka Congress Party. The Congress had suffered poll reverses in four districts -- Dakshina Kannada, Udupi, Uttara Kannada and Shivamogga -- where Edigas are majority, and the effect has lasted six elections.

Shivakumar also welcomed Madhu's sister Geetha Shivarajkumar, wife of Sandalwood superstar Shivarajkumar, as a future leader. Addressing the media with Shivakumar on Friday, Madhu said Geetha would also join the Congress soon.

Madhu is seen as the heir to Bangarappa's legacy, having received his father's blessings.

TOP CONG LEADERS WILL TAKE TO STREETS IN SHIVAMOGGA BACKING BHADRAVATHI MLA

Shivamogga: A team of top Congress leaders, including Leader of Opposition in Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge, Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah, KPCC president DK Shivakumar and former KPCC chief Dinesh Gundu Rao, will take part in a rally organised by the party at Science Field in Shivamogga on Saturday. Titled Janaakrosha Pratibhatane, the rally is to protest against "vendetta politics of the BJP". Congress leaders are taking to the streets to retain Bhadravathi, the only Assembly segment the Congress won in the district in the last polls and where the BJP has been struggling to strengthen its base. Shivamogga is the home turf of Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa. The rally is being organised to protest against a police filed against Bhadravathi MLA B K Sangameshwar and his family after Congress and BJP workers clashed during a recent Kabaddi tournament in Bhadravathi. The incident caught national attention after Sangameshwar removed his shirt in the Assembly condemning the incident.

At Vidurashwatha, Governor Vajubhai Vala said that the freedom earned by the sacrifices of thousands of fighters should be respected "We as a country should think how we will grow in the next 25 years. We must walk the path laid out by great men, like Swamy Vivekananda, who strived for the betterment of people of the country," he said.

Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa, who was part of the celebrations at this historic place, said the youth should be told about the great Independence Movement. "Today marks the anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi's Dandi March too," he added. At Maddur, district in-charge minister K C Narayana Gowda, taking part in the celebrations at Shivapura Dwaja Sathyagraha Soudha, said that many freedom fighters

Youngsters should emulate the courage displayed by these leaders and protect the freedom that was earned after a great struggle, he added.

In all, 43 freedom fighters, including Gudegere Savithramma and Hanumanthaiah of Srirangapatna who took part in Shivapura Satyagraha, and their families were felicitated. The guests walked down the dais to honour them as they could not climb the steps.

The celebrations got off to a grand start at Kittur, the land of Rani Chennamma who had waged a war against the British regime in 1824.

Forest Minister Aravind Limbavali said Mahatma Gandhi's Dandi March, started with just 82 protesters, went on to change the course of the freedom struggle.

Vidurashwatha, Jallianwala Bagh of South

Vidurashwatha, a small village, played a major role in the Indian independence movement. Known as Jallianwala Bagh of the South, 10 freedom fighters, who had gathered to hold a satyagraha, were martyred here. Like at Jallianwala Bagh, here too the police fired indiscriminately on a group of villagers on April 25, 1938, killing 10 and injuring many. A memorial, with the names of the martyrs has been built here.

Shivapura, when villagers led the movement

Shivapura, a small village near Maddur in Mandya district, came into national prominence in 1938 after villagers hoisted a national flag in the village. The British administration banned it and arrested several freedom fighters. Many freedom fighters, including Bande Gowda, Deve Gowda, Gundu Rao, Kodandaramu, Bettashattru and Nagathahalli Tirumalegowda, took the lead in Shivapura Sathyagraha. A Shivapura Dwaja Sathyagraha Soudha, next to the Bengaluru-Mysuru Highway, marks the movement.

Ex-BDA official, IMA directors face charges

PD Kumar had taken around Rs 5 cr in bribe to influence officials to accept closure report, says CBI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE CBI filed a chargesheet against former executive engineer of Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) PD Kumar, CEO & MD of I Monetary Advisory (IMA) Mohammed Mansoor Khan, four IMA directors Nizamuddin Ahmed, Waseem, Naveed Ahmed and Nazir Hussain, and IMA, before the special court for CBI cases in Bengaluru.

According to the CBI, a bribe of around Rs 5 crore was allegedly paid in four instalments between April and May 2019, by the directors of IMA on the instructions of Mansoor Khan, as part of the conspiracy hatched between him and Kumar, who was then BDA executive engineer. It was decided that the latter would influence revenue officials to accept the closure report submitted by the Competent Authority, and the then assistant commissioner, Bengaluru North sub-division, the CBI has stated. The closure report was submitted in April 2019 to the revenue department.

"Kumar was identified due to his old acquaintance with senior officials of the revenue department. He had demanded ₹5 crore with a promise to ensure acceptance of the report," the CBI has stated. The said closure report was not accepted by the then principal secretary, revenue department, and instead, was sent to the law department for opinion. Not satisfied with the report, he referred it to the DGP, Karnataka, for further enquiry into the matter.

The CBI has further stated that since the work was not done, Khan and other IMA directors put pressure on Kumar to return the bribe amount. "He allegedly returned Rs 30 lakh as per the IMA's books of accounts, and also issued two cheques from his SB account for Rs 2 crore and Rs 2.5 crore as security, till the return of the remaining bribe amount in cash. These two cheques issued by Kumar were recovered during investigation," the agency has stated. According to the Central agency, several WhatsApp chats among Kumar, Khan and the IMA directors about file movement, gate digital access logs showing different entry, and statements of several witnesses have been collected as evidence. The CBI had registered four cases in the multi-crore IMA scam.

Clarify stand on Covid norm violation at rally: Court to govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday directed the state government to make its stand clear on whether violation of Covid-19 norms of wearing mask, social distancing etc., during the Panchamasali rally attracts criminal prosecution of the organisers or not under the Karnataka Epidemic Diseases Act as the government had merely collected Rs 10,000 as fine from them after the court had earlier questioned what action was taken against them.

A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice S Vishwajith Shetty passed the order during the hearing of a PIL filed by Letzkit Foundation and one another with regard to violation of norms. The order was passed after the government informed the court that the BBMP has collected fine of Rs 10,000 from Amaresha Nagur of Bagalkot, who is the organiser of the rally.

HC junks PIL questioning SC/ST Act

The High Court on Friday dismissed a PIL questioning the validity of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. The petition filed by Mahendra Kumar Mitra, claimed to be a social worker and president of Dr Ambedkar Scheduled Castes Federation from Raichur, had contended the Act was in violation of Article 14 and Article 17 of the Constitution.

Relief for Viren, HC sets aside orders passed by Special Court

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday set aside two separate orders passed by a trial court directing Virendra Khanna, an accused in sandalwood drug case, to furnish the password, passcode of his phone, email account, and also to undergo a polygraph test.

Partly allowing the petition filed by Khanna, Justice Suraj Govindaraj set aside both the orders of the Special Court for NDPS Cases, issued on September 14 and 24, 2020.

Justice Govindaraj said that the examination of a smartphone or an email account is in the nature of a search, and it cannot be done without a search warrant. "The trial court, by merely directing the petitioner to cooperate with the investigating agency, cannot constrain him to provide details such as password, passcode, biometrics, etc., for opening the smartphone or an email account, much less without recording the reasons for it. The process and procedures will have to be followed", the judge said, while reserving liberty to the prosecution to file necessary applications before the trial court.

On the polygraph test, the judge said it ought to have taken into consideration the decision of the Supreme Court in Selvi's case. Mere silence of the said person does not amount to consent. If a person were to refuse the administration of a polygraph, no such test can be administered and, even if it is, the test result cannot be considered by a court of law.

In this case, Khanna having not consented to a polygraph test and, in fact, having challenged it, refusing the administration thereof, had categorically indicated that he does not wish to be subjected to a polygraph test, the judge noted.

> Apparently, there are no rules formulated by the police department regarding the manner of carrying out a search or for preservations of the evidence gathered during the search in respect of smartphone, electronic equipment or email account. It would be in the interest of all the stakeholders that detailed guidelines are prepared by the police in relation to the same.

DMK fields 173 candidates, Stalin's son makes the cut

Vetri Azhagan, Dr Ezhilan among those picked; only 12 women on list

S KUMARESAN @Chennai

EIGHT doctors, five doctorate-holders, six engineers... the DMK candidates list is a good mix of youngsters, seasoned politicians, and, as expected, family members of yesteryear heavyweights. Among the 173 names announced on Friday were Udhayanidhi Stalin, the DMK president's son; Vetri Azhagan, grandson of veteran K Anbazhagan; and Dr Ezhilan, son of former State planning commission vice-president M Naganathan. In terms of gender, the ratio remained skewed as just 12 women made the cut.

"It should be presumed that Kalaignar is contesting," DMK chief MK Stalin said, recalling his father M Karunanidhi's memory in his message to the party cadre. "This not a list of candidates, but winners," he said. DMK will take on its archrival and ruling party AIADMK in about 130 and BJP in 14 of the total 234 constituencies. Most sitting MLAs -- 79 of them in total -- have been given a ticket this time too. A few of them missed the bus because of alliance compulsions.

Despite being known for its dynasty politics, the party denied tickets to family members of former ministers such as Veerapandi Arumugam, Pongalur Palaniswami, Erode NKKP Raja and Theni Mookaiya. Instead, several newcomers who have made a name for themselves in the social media landscape have also made the cut -- such as Thanga Tamil Selvan, RS Raja Kannappan, and Karthikeya Sivasenathipathi. Thanga Tamil Selvan will take on Deputy CM O Panneerselvam in Bodinayakanur while Sivasenathipathi, who became popular with the Jallikattu protests, will face minister SP Velumani.

Oommen Chandy back in game, supporters happy

T'Puram: Leaders of the 'A' group in the Congress heaved a sigh of relief on Friday with the state unit leaders declaring in New Delhi that former chief minister Oommen Chandy would contest the coming assembly elections from his Puthupally constituency. The group leaders had been fuming since his name was suggested for the tough Nemom seat. They felt that the Congress had fallen into the trap laid by the CPM which alleged an "adjustment" between the Congress and the BJP in Nemom after the saffron party threw enough hints that its former state president Kummanam Rajasekharan would be fielded there. The Chandy camp was peeved with Congress state president Mullappally Ramach-andran as he was the first one to propose his name in Nemom. On the first day itself, Chandy expressed his reservation against such a move. Halfway through the screening committee meeting in New Delhi, the Nemom candidature came up for discussion. Already, the 'A' group was a wounded lot with many of their senior leaders having been sidelined in the probable candidate list. ENS

'Govt employees cannot become poll commissioners'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

JUST a few days ahead of the state assemblies elections in some states, the Supreme Court on Friday ruled that any person employed with the Central or state governments cannot be appointed as election commissioners across the country and stressed that the independence of election commissions is sacrosanct under the Constitution.

The ruling assumes significance in the wake of ensuring independence of the election commissions. A bench headed by Justice R F Nariman, while pulling up Goa government for giving law secretary the additional charge of state EC, said, "Henceforth, all state election commissions shall be headed by independent persons who do not hold any office under the state government. If they hold any such office, then they have to resign before taking charge.

"The bench said it was appalled to find that the law secretary, holding charge of the EC, attempted to overreach the hearing of petitions challenging reservation of seats in zilla panchayat elections and made a mockery of the constitutional mandate for independence of EC. The Goa zilla panchayat elections were to be held in February last year. However, with various litigations, it will now be held before April 30, the bench ordered.

The judgment came on an appeal against an order of the Bombay High Court which had set aside the election notification issued by the Goa State Election Commission in the municipalities of Margao, Mapusa, Mormugao, Sanguem and Quepem. The top court gave a direction to all the states to comply with the constitutional scheme of an independent SEC, if they are in default. The High Court had allowed the State Election Commission to continue the election process in other municipalities while disallowing the same in five municipalities for not reserving the wards for women as required under the law.

A NEW FRONTIER

ISRO's biz arm to invest Rs 10K cr in next 5 years

PEARL MARIA DSOUZA
@Bengaluru

THE Indian Space Research Organisation's commercial arm NewSpace India Ltd (NSIL), which started operations in 2019 and clocked a revenue of Rs 300 crore in the first year, is now looking at revenue of Rs 400 crore in 2020-2021. It is also looking to investment Rs 2,000 crore per year over the next five years, and increase its manpower capability to from the existing 20-25 to 300, to cater to the country's and international space requirements.

The money will be raised through a mix of equity and debt, NSIL chairman Narayanan G told mediapersons on Friday. The enterprise foresees a paradigm shift, from having a mandate to produce and operate launch vehicles for ISRO, to procuring, owning, launching and providing space-based services, primarily in the communication sector, to its various customers

As per a top source in the organisation, more revenue comes from satellite-related missions than launches. The NSIL has already started discussions with users about communication satellite capacities. It is also in talks with the Department of Space to take ownership of two communication satellites.

The NSIL is also looking at owning the already operating satellites in space. "We propose to take over the satellites run by ISRO," said Narayanan. The space enterprise which is incorporated as a wholly government owned enterprise with a paid-up capital of Rs 10 crore on March 6, 2019, has an authorised capital of Rs 100 crore. The recent budget identified Rs 700 crore for the company in the coming financial year.

With global demand for launching small satellites, the NSIL is looking at production of the PSLV launcher, and is expecting to engage with industry partners in the next six months. It is looking at capturing the mid-segment class of launch vehicles.

"Today, we are the best in the world to cater to that segment of the market. The other competitive vehicles in similar class to PSLV is Arianespace's (Italian) Vega, whereas Soyuz (Russia) and SpaceX (USA) are heavylift launchers. The PSLV is ideally suited for mid-segment satellite with its success rate, number of launches in India and the commercial competitiveness," said Radhakrishnan D, Technical and Strategy Director, NSIL.

He told TNIE that the enterprise eventually aims to produce GSLV, GSLV-Mk3, and SSLV launch vehicles. So far, NSIL has launched 342 satellites for 24 countries, and 80 per cent of all small satellites are from the USA.

NSIL to launch 4 satellites by the year 2023

ENS @Bengaluru

FOUR international satellites will be launched by NSIL. While refusing to disclose details of the customer due to the nondisclosure clause, Radhakrishnan D, Technical and Strategy Director, NSIL, on Friday said the company has four dedicated international launch service agreements wherein two satellites will be launched next year and two more in 2023.

Three of these launches will be on board ISRO's PSLV, and one of them will be via the SSLV. Radhakrishnan was confident that the order book target will be achieved in a big way, also with two communication satellites coming into the picture.

While the Central Public Sector Enterprise (CPSE) has been planning to take over ISRO's communication and remote sensing satellites to add to its revenue, NSIL Chairman Narayanan G said they are looking for emerging demands for satellite services, and will concentrate on it.

For the manufacture of PSLV, its core strength globally for mixed launches, NSIL has already issued a Request for Proposal for identifying an industrial partner. In the meantime, NSIL is also looking to acquire two communication satellites for DTH and broadband.

Dowry case: IFS officer records his statement

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

INDIAN Foreign Service (IFS) officer Niteen Yeola, husband of Karnataka cadre IPS officer Vartika Katiyar who had accused him of dowry harassment and other charges, recorded his statement before police recently.

He stated that as his wife was serving in Karnataka, the question of his family harassing her for dowry did not arise. He said that she had been living separately since April 2019, and they had not met since then. "The residential address where the complainant has accused me of torturing her, was allotted to me in June 2019 and the complainant has never visited the house so far. So the question of torture does not arise," he told police, adding that theirs was a love marriage and dowry was neither demanded nor given.

He alleged that despite gifting her jewels worth Rs 5 lakh, Vartika wanted more. "She always wanted to wear expensive jewellery 'to suit her status'... She wanted a blue sapphire ring the size which Queen Elizabeth wears. I told her that I can gift her only what I could afford; she accepted my ring after 3-4 months," he alleged.

On the allegation that he had fractured her hand in Colombo in 2016, he claimed that she fractured her hand after hitting shipment cartons, as she was hysterically throwing things in the house.

Yeola has also given details of financial transactions between them, and messages exchanged. The case was transferred to Parliament Street police station in New Delhi.

The boundary wall, which is part of the Lotus Mahal block, collapsed, in Hampi on Friday

Lotus Mahal wall in Hampi collapses

A portion of a wall, said to be on the boundary of heritage monument Lotus Mahal, caved in on Friday. Locals have blamed it on the indiscriminate borewell drilling here but the Archeological Survey of India has said that it was a loosely constructed rubble wall and it could be repaired. "The wall is a part of the Lotus Mahal heritage block. It is near the entrance," G Santosh, a local activist and guide, told TNIE.

He said that the wall was made up of rubble and mud and bore the brunt of a borewell being drilled nearby. "It has been two days. The drilling was making the ground vibrate. They should be careful while drilling a borewell near the monument," he said.

However, the ASI said that it was just a dry masonry wall and it caved in. "It will be repaired immediately. We are in the process to identify more such damage," P Kalimuthu, Superintending Archeologist, Hampi Mini Circle, Archeological Survey of India, said.

Kalimuthun also visited the site and the local activist Vishwanath Malagi, President, Vijayanagara Smaraka Samrakshana Samithi, and others explained to him the reason the wall collapsed.

Not gurukul: Forced out of school, students take lessons by roadside

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Hubballi

STUDENTS of the Harijan Girls' Kannada Primary School were forced to take their lessons by the roadside in Ramanagar in Hubballi on Friday , after they were forced to vacate their school on Wednesday. Claiming the land on which the school was built, the Gandhiwada Cooperative Housing Society cited a court order and had the students evicted on Wednesday. The students and teachers opposed the move and staged a flash protest on the premises, but the school was shut down, with the Keshwapur police keeping vigil.

Harijan Hitavardhaka Sangha has been running the school since 1956, and claimed that 20 guntas of the land, on which the school stood, was given to it by the Society. "But now, with fake documents, the society approached court and evicted the students," they said.

The students said they will continue to sit by the roadside for their lessons till they get a new building.

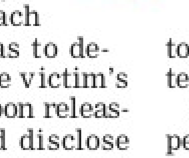
Inspired by crime shows, siblings kidnap, kill 11-yr-old

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Haveri

Two youngsters, including a juvenile, allegedly killed a minor boy and burnt the body to destroy evidence, in Haveri.

Tejasgowda Mallikeri (11) went missing on March 7. His father, Jagadish Mallikeri, lodged a missing person's complaint with the Town Police Station. The police detained two youths from the same area and unravelled a kidnap and murder story.

Accused Ritesh B Meti (20), and his 17-year-old brother reportedly kidnapped Tejasgowda after bundling him in their car. As the victim and accused are from the same area, with their houses hardly 150 metres apart, they were familiar with each other. The motive was to demand money from the victim's father. Fearing that upon releasing the boy, he would disclose their identity, they strangled him to death the same day and threw the body in the Heggeri lake situated on the outskirts of the city.



After three days, the decomposed body surfaced, which they moved to a place close to their house. As the body started emanating foul smell, they moved it to a place near Devaraj Urs Hostel and burnt it among bushes.

Speaking to TNIE, Haveri Superintendent of Police K Devaraju said they had formed a team to investigate the case on March 8 and were also monitoring the phone records of the victim's father suspecting that the kidnappers would call him demanding money. But the father did not receive any call.

"As there was no information about the boy, we suspected the Meti brothers, whose behaviour had changed over the last few days," he added.

On Friday, the police detained and grilled the duo who spilled the beans and admitted that they were inspired by TV serials.

SUCCESSFUL END TO SOVEREIGN-LED IDBI BAILOUT?

The government will sell its entire 45.48% stake in IDBI Bank to a strategic investor next fiscal. If it happens, it'll be the most successful closure to a sovereign-led disaster-management bailout ever. Three years, ₹30,000 crore and the might of insurance behemoth LIC is all that it took for IDBI to turnaround. With better asset quality, credit mix and capital adequacy, it's payback time for the bank, which exited the RBI's Prompt Corrective Action framework earlier this week. Word has it that the government is open to roping in foreign players (FDI in private banks is permitted up to 74%) and will soon amend clauses in the Industrial Development Bank (Transfer of Undertaking and Repeal) Act, 2003 to proceed with protocol.

But incoming investors may want management control, which now rests with LIC thanks to its 51% stakeholding. It means for the government to exit IDBI, it'll be lucrative only if LIC joins forces. It's important to note that special relaxations were extended to LIC including IRDAI regulations that restrict more than 15% stakeholding in individual entities besides norms barring insurers from owning non-insurance companies. Likewise, RBI too relaxed rules preventing non-banking firms holding over 10% stake in a bank. While joint stake sale could possibly fetch a better sum, it's paramount that LIC ensures a decent return on investment in the interest of policyholders. IDBI's current market price is way lower than the price LIC paid, investing ₹21,624 crore for 51% stake bought between October 2018 and January 2019 at an average ₹60 per share. In contrast, shares now hover around ₹40.

That said, IDBI is in better shape and the current capital base of 14.77% is adequate to support growth next fiscal. The net NPA ratio is within an acceptable range at 1.9% in Q3 as against 5.25% last year and even though the provisioning coverage ratio is among the highest in the industry at 97%, improving loan growth (including corporate credit) without compromising asset quality remains a challenge.

KCR FACES TOUGH BUDGET CALLS

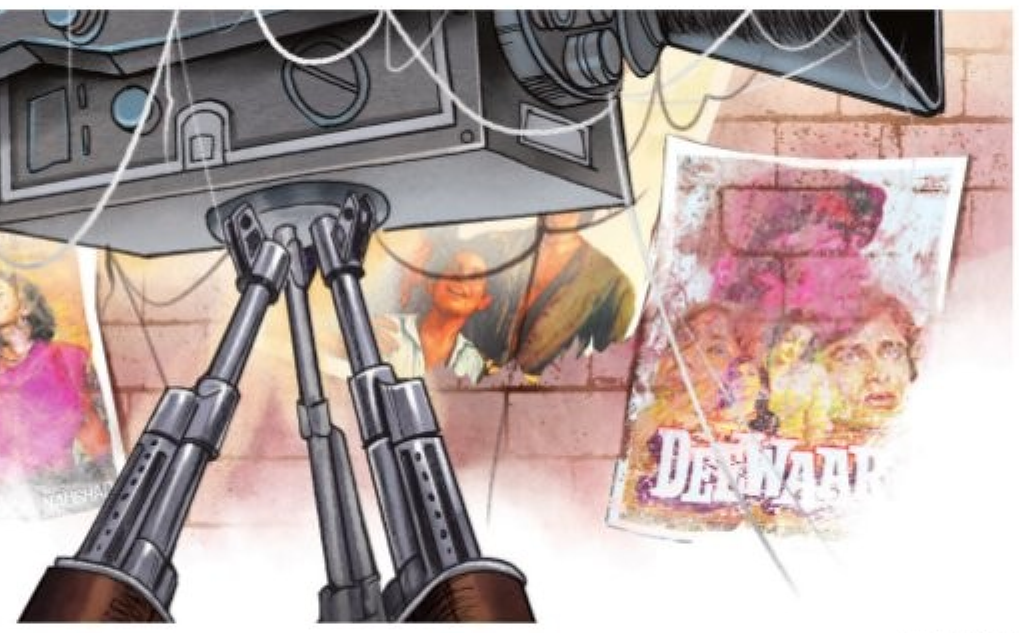
Telangana, like any other state, is trying to recover from the cataclysmic effect Covid has wrought on its economy and move on to the next fiscal with hope. The Budget Session of the state Assembly is set to begin on March 15. An exercise to look for avenues to augment revenues is already on. For 2020-21, the state had planned a budget of ₹1.82 lakh crore and it remains to be seen what the revised budget would come to at the end of the financial year that was hit by the pandemic.

As the state moves closer to planning its budget for the next fiscal (2021-22), the situation is not looking very encouraging though Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao is optimistic, arguing that financially the state would be better off in the next year, in relative terms. Even without Covid, the state was reeling under the pressure of economic slowdown at the beginning of the current financial year with devolutions from the Centre shrinking and the state's commitments increasing. For the ensuing fiscal, the size of the budget might be the same and might even get bloated to ₹2 lakh crore, but the proof of the pudding would be in the eating as the government would have to do a trapeze act to come up with resources without resorting to taxation to redeem its budget commitments or end up with a revised budget with a gaping hole.

At a review recently, the chief minister dropped a bombshell that Covid had knocked away ₹1 lakh crore that should have accrued to the state exchequer. Though half of it is notional, the figure is still unnerving. There are too many millstones around the government's neck. The ruling party often brags about its welfare schemes as the most people-friendly, but looking at them, the economists say they are scary. For instance, the farmers' investment subsidy scheme — Rythu Bandhu — spirits away ₹12,000 crore, social security pension Aasara takes up ₹11,758 crore, and Kalyan Lakshmi and Shadi Mubarak — a gift to the newly married couples — devour ₹1,450 crore, to name a few. The CM would have to shore up revenues without cutting into welfare schemes as he would have to face elections in 2023. It is a tough call and no one envies him.

One of the major hurdles for Manipuri movies is the slow but certain withering away of cinema theatres in the state, triggered by the banning of Hindi films about 20 years ago

THE MIDLIFE CRISIS FOR MANIPURI CINEMA



AMIT BANDRE

PRADIP PHANJOUBAM

Editor, Imphal Review of Arts and Politics

April 9 this year will be an important landmark for Manipuri cinema. That is the day this art form will enter its 50th year of existence since the first full-length Manipuri feature film, Matamgi Manipur, was released in 1972. Much water has flowed down the many rivers of Manipur ever since and today the art form is again facing a unique challenge, demanding for it to reinvent itself yet again. This battle cannot be left to those directly involved in the industry alone, for no art can flourish without patronage of an enlightened audience. It is therefore important for efforts to be made to create the right atmosphere for the emergence of a discerning and critical audience.

One of the major hurdles for this is the slow but certain withering away of cinema theatres in the state, triggered by the banning of Hindi films about 20 years ago by an underground militant group with the stated intent of saving Manipur's indigenous cultures from overly excessive influence from a more dominant culture that Hindi represented. However, Manipur's market for films being small, this resulted in its shrinking below sustainability and in the course of the decades since, most cinema houses have had to shut, depriving what is described as "box office" revenue for those in films. This obviously was a harsh blow for the state's fledgling film industry.

One is reminded here of a phenomenon in the natural world that environmentalists have come to term as "trophic cascades", an ecological regeneration that begins at the top of the food chain. It says, contrary to popular belief, predators have a vital function in keeping an ecosystem healthy. This was demonstrated dramatically at the Yellowstone National Park in the US. Wolves in this park had once been eliminated but although the population of their prey, deer in particular, multiplied, the ecosystem deteriorated rather than improved. A few decades ago, wolves were reintroduced in the park and the changes this brought about was stunning. Deer retreated higher into the hills where escape from the wolves was easier, and in turn grasses and shrubs in the plains got greener, soil retained water better, rivers and stream became more perennial, trees got greener and the fruits they began bearing brought back birds, which in turn helped seed dispersal and a whole chain of cascading consequences began unfolding, ultimately restoring the natural health of the park. It needs to be considered whether there is a lesson in this for Manipur's film industry.

Cinema houses disappearing has had consequences other than the slow death of "box offices". It has also changed the profile of the cinema audience. This is especially so after the advent of the digital age. Today, a great many cinema lovers watch their movies on digital devices such as smartphones, tablets, computers, TV screens, etc. This is obviously convenient but not without drawbacks, the foremost of which is the level of audience engagement. Unlike going for a movie in a cinema theatre, it is impossible for the audience to suspend disbelief and enter the fictional world that any particular film explores. Hence, a person watching 3D films like Life of Pi, Gravity or Avatar in a theatre can, for the duration of the movie, immerse themselves totally into the ecosystem of the drama these movies create and hence not just see but feel the actions and emotions. On a smartphone, this is seldom possible. The phone may begin ringing, somebody may request a small errand, etc. In all likelihood, the person may end up putting the drama on pause to continue watching another time. This lack of audience engagement would quite expectedly water down the critical faculty of the viewers, which in turn would affect the quality of the cinema produced, for indeed, any good art involves a serious dialectics between audience and artist. Cinema, after all, is a form of communication. No good art can be created out of nothing; it is on the other hand a creative and unique response to a given social circumstance.

A person watching 3D films like Life of Pi or Avatar in a theatre can, for the duration of the movie, immerse themselves totally into the ecosystem of the drama these movies create …On a smartphone, this is seldom possible

There is yet another mind block that Manipuri cinema has to overcome. There are still some people nostalgic about the celluloid era and think returning to it can improve the quality of cinema in the state. Nothing can be farther from the truth and therefore the quicker the thought is abandoned, the better it would be. Nobody can avoid the future and let there be no doubt whatsoever at this point that digital is the future. Other than its exponentially greater technological capabilities, it has also made film-making accessible to anybody with a passion for it. True, the explosion in the number of filmmakers outside of the elite circle that once monopolised this art and trade during the celluloid days can and probably has brought down the standard of films generally, but ultimately a cream would emerge from among them and that is what everybody should be interested in. Let it not be forgotten that the wider the base from which to draw this cream, the more of it there would be.

IDOL THEFT & THE CASE FOR A NATIONAL LOSS REGISTER

S VIJAY KUMAR

Co-Founder, India Pride Project and Author of The Idol Thief

We saw how the statute of limitations was problematic in idol theft cases in the previous column. Let us look at what else courts currently focus on before deciding the time bar: a) Is the current owner truly a good faith purchaser and has he done proper due diligence?; b) Have the original owners been diligent in reporting thefts; and c) Have the original owners followed up in the search for their lost works?

We have covered the good faith purchaser and due diligence myths in the previous columns and so we can look here into the options open to the owners of the lost property, b) and c). We will also be referring frequently to the 1970 UNESCO Convention on theft of cultural property to show how despite being a signatory to the same, India's lack of implementation of it has hamstrung its claims in seeking the return of stolen works of Art.

Article 5 of the UN Statute clearly says: To ensure protection of their cultural property against illicit import, export and transfer of ownership, the States Parties to this Convention undertake to set up within their territories one or more national services ... for the protection of the cultural heritage … for carrying out of the following functions: a) Draft laws and regulations designed to secure the protection; b) Establishing and keeping up to date a national inventory of protected property; … g) Seeing that appropriate publicity is given to the disappearance of any items of cultural property.

Reporting thefts: This is the single biggest problem where the stakeholders, for various reasons including politician-criminal-custodian nexus, are scared to report crimes. And even when in cases where crimes have been reported, the police have been quick to close FIRs as untraceable (sometimes within 24 months) to apparently reduce the risk of adverse performance appraisals. In some other cases where the arrests of robbers did not lead to actual seizure of the stolen idols, the FIRs have been quashed. So the cases are no longer open though the idols have not been found. This hampers recovery as the data about stolen idols becomes unavailable.

This lackadaisical attitude stems from lack of incentives to pursue cases of heritage crimes. To understand how this endemic rot has eaten at the core of our law enforcement, one has to see how much of the reporting pipeline of our agencies has been amputated. Take a look at the paper presented in March 1976 by India and Italy jointly to the United Nations Social Defence Research Institute (UNSDRI) titled 'The Protection of the Artistic and Archeological Heritage'. One can see from the table in the report that law enforcement authorities had access to state-wise data of heritage crimes. This has been discontinued.

India has to come up with two immediate steps: 1) The PMO should take the personal lead in instructing police stations to disclose all reported thefts going back to the source of the UNSDRI report and update the findings. We have demonstrated a tremendous amount of success in reopening such closed cases by collecting evidence on our own. If the government instructs all police stations to reopen cases of stolen artefacts and upload the details, it would help us bring more idols back.

2) Creating a national portal for secure reporting of heritage crimes wherein such information can be reported with anonymity as required (to help whistleblowers). In time, this could become a citizen-sourced national stolen art works database in line with the UN Statute.

However, this stolen art works database model should not become a provenance verification service and access to it must be strictly policed. There are some who argue about using existing databases such as the Interpol's one on stolen works of art, in which as per a 2016 study, of the 47,000 objects listed as stolen, just 3% were from Asia Pacific! And this has been cited as being the second-most checked database for Indian works of art by museums including the National Gallery of Australia (NGA)!

Reported art and archaeological thefts (1969 to July 1973)

States/UTs	1969	1970	1971	1972	1973
Andhra Pradesh	–	–	28	46	17
Kerala	19	16	11	8	1
Madhya Pradesh	51	37	21	21	18
Orissa	1	10	20	23	25
Rajasthan	46	50	29	42	29
Tamil Nadu	49	49	48	65	30
Uttar Pradesh	65	75	64	54	22
West Bengal	26	6	–	3	10
Pondicherry	–	–	1	4	–

State-wise data of heritage crimes from report submitted to the UN in 1976. Data from 25 states and 7 UTs were present. Some of them are mentioned here. There is no such data now

The problem with such global access databases for India is the minimal number of objects that are currently listed as missing, defeating the purpose of such a service. There is also a problem over transparency and lack of understanding of art market intermediaries. In comparison, private art loss databases are run for profit and require money to sustain their operations. In our case, this requires impoverished and ruined temples in India to pay annual subscriptions. Such a service might work for paintings (in particular Holocaust Nazi looted art) where the heirs have the wherewithal to explore old archives and register with such loss registers, not for stolen idols from here.

It is also pertinent to mention that the most popular UK-based provenance verification agency provided provenance certificates for almost all the Subhash Kapoor sales to various museums—including the Sripuranthan Nataraja since restituted by the NGA (it had bought it for $5 million!). Considering the number of artefacts that have since been restituted to India, law enforcement here should consider seeking the full disclosure of all such verification certifications issued by this private company not just for Kapoor sales but for all Indian art that it validated, and make it compulsory for any global art auction sales of Indian artefacts to run a check through it along with the detailed provenance information.

Further there are larger concerns. Imagine a shady art market smuggler has on his payroll a scholar with access to private provenance verification services: he gets information that the artefact that he intends to buy (or already has in his stash) is on the database. If he has already openly exhibited it or shown it to clients, then he is at risk and might well do the innocent good faith purchaser act and try to keep his name clean with a restitution photo-op. If the artefact is still en route or in storage in the numerous free ports and art storages in favourable regimes around the world, he will likely take a business call to destroy the artefact rather than expose himself and his shady nexus.

How can this be avoided? Users must not be allowed access to view the database. Instead the database admin must seek the submission of every object, including all available provenance and current ownership and proof of legitimate export details, and then engage an in-house provenance verification expert to check against the database. Further quite often, the theft details may come to light in a subsequent period and hence any submission to the database will allow law enforcement authorities to use the submitted information for future prosecution if new information comes up.

Beware of fake news

Any time is good for the peddlers of fake news to ply their trade, but they tend to go into overdrive when elections are approaching. BJP bigwigs focus on Nandigram

PM Modi, Shah and Adityanath to hold rallies in bid to polarise votes and counter Mamata

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

WEST Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's decision to contest from Nandigram has forced the state BJP to recalibrate its battle strategy for East Midnapore district. The party plans to bring heavyweights like Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union Home Minister Amit Shah and Uttar Pradesh CM Yogi Adityanath to address rallies in the district.

Sources in the BJP said Modi will address a rally on March 20 at Contain, around 50 km from Nandigram, the seat where Mamata and her former lieutenant and BJP's star candidate Suvendu Adhikari are locked in a face-off. "We are trying to arrange a rally at the same venue in Nandigram's Tekhali, from where Mamata had announced her candidature, which Adityanath will address," said a BJP leader.

Shah is likely to visit Bengal on March 15 and March 19. "We are in the process to organise a rally at a place located in the heart of Nandigram which the home minister will address," said the BJP leader.

The visit being planned by the BJP brass to Nandigram and East Midnapore is aimed at defeating Mamata. "The contest between her and Adhikari has become a prestige issue for the Bengal CM and the Union home minister. It was Shah who gave a nod to the proposal of fielding Suvendu against Mamata," said a state BJP leader.

It was Mamata's participation in the 2007 peasant movement in Nandigram-Singur against land acquisition for Tata Nano project by the then Left government that had catapulted her into power in 2011.

Sources in the saffron camp said the party is showcasing its Hindutva rhetoric aggressively in Nandigram, eyeing to consolidate Hindu votes. Minorities form around 40 per cent of the total electorates in the constituency.

"In the 2019 Lok Sabha elections, BJP had failed to concentrate the non-Muslim votes in its favour. The constituency has around 2.5 lakh voters. The TMC had secured a lead of more than 68,000 votes in the general election despite a strong wave of nationalism across the country. This means a majority of Hindu voters did not welcome our candidate in 2019. This is why we need heavyweights to polarise Hindu electorate," said a BJP leader.

TMC functionaries have already been camping in Nandigram. They have rented a two-storey house for Mamata and four others and 80-odd party leaders and workers who will be playing the role of architects to secure the CM's victory.

Mamata back home, parties take conspiracy angle fight to EC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

HOURS before West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee was discharged from a Kolkata hospital after doctors found her recovery from a recent leg injury satisfactory, the BJP and the Trinamool Congress on Friday approached the Election Commission of India here seeking a thorough probe into the alleged attack on her.

The Trinamool delegation submitted a memorandum claiming the alleged attack was pre-planned and demanded an immediate, thorough and unbiased investigation.

The memorandum said the attack happened just a day after the West Bengal DGP was abruptly transferred.

The BJP's memorandum claimed that the Trinamool was spreading canards against the EC. As for the poll panel, it could take action against police personnel in charge of Mamata's security, sources said. It is waiting for reports from the state government and the two observers appointed for the Assembly elections before deciding on the nature and quantum of the punishment.

70K applicants for job guarantee drive: Cong

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Guwahati

THE Congress's 'Job Guarantee Programme' for the youth has drawn good response. The party said on Friday that over 70,000 have registered on its campaign website.

Announced by party general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra during her recent election trip to Assam, the Congress on Thursday launched its 'five-guarantee campaign'. Apart from five lakh jobs in five years, other guarantees are a law to nullify the controversial Citizenship (Amendment) Act, raising daily wage of tea workers to ₹365, free electricity up to 200 units per household and ₹2,000 monthly income support to housewives.

The Congress claimed people accepted its vision of progress and it was evident from the number of applications for guaranteed government employment. State Congress chief Ripun Bora said: "Assam is on its way to fulfil its dreams of a progressive future. Youngsters are showing immense support for the job guarantee programme, for which 70k-plus guarantees have been given out."

Congress Legislature Party Leader Debabrata Saikia said: "70,000 plus guarantees crossed already! This shows Assam's faith in our people-centric vision with the youth waiting for the party to come to power for the realisation of their aspirations."

The chairman of the party's election campaign committee, Pradyut Bordoloi said: "Over 70,000 guarantees since the launch of the registration of Congress's job guarantee programme are indicative of the progressive vision that the Congress has for Assam."

Lok Sabha member Gaurav Gogoi said Congress was focused on progressive growth for Assam and opening paths for the youth to fulfil their dreams.

Bengal, Assam poll outcome may cast shadow on BJP-JD(U) govt in Bihar

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @Patna

REGARDLESS of who wins in Bengal and Assam elections, the outcome will have an impact on the BJP-JD(U) alliance in Bihar. The ruling JD-U has decided to contest over 22 seats in Bengal and 32 in Assam, mostly in "friendly fights" with the BJP.

JD-U sources said the party became more aggressive in the two states after six of its MLAs defected to the BJP in Arunachal Pradesh late last year. The party in these two states is focusing on voters who migrated from Bihar, UP and Jharkhand. As per a rough estimate, around 5% of the electorate in Assam and West Bengal are migrant voters. "The JD-U is not dependent on the Hindi-speaking voters alone; the Nitish Kumar model of development and governance is widely appreciated by the people of the two states. So, the party has an electoral base," said Sanjay Verma, party in-charge of Northeast.

Sources in various parties in Bihar went to the extent of saying that the results of Bengal and Assam would decide the survival of the NDA government in Bihar. Many observers believe that if the BJP comes to power in West Bengal and Assam, then its dominance in the Bihar government will also grow. "The JD-U has grown vindictive after the Arunachal episode," said a senior politician, pointing to some recent statements of JD-U and BJP that reflect the growing mistrust.

Sometime back, JD-U's former MLA Shayam Bahadur Singh had told party workers to strengthen Nitish and the party as no one knew how long the alliance would survive.

The SKM also issued a letter urging Bengal's farmers not to vote for the saffron party as its defeat "will force the Centre to repeal the farm laws".

Didi to release TMC manifesto on March 14

KOLKATA: With an injured Mamata Banerjee released from SSKM Hospital in Kolkata on Friday evening, the TMC said it would release its election manifesto on March 14, which the party observes as Nandigram Diwas as a tribute to the 14 villagers gunned down in East Midnapore in 2007 during the movement against land acquisition. "Since the CM is contesting from Nandigram, the release of manifesto on Nandigram Diwas will deliver a strong message," said a TMC leader. Observers say the date to release TMC's manifesto is significant.

"WE recognise that none of us can be safe as long as the pandemic continues to spread... We will collaborate to strengthen equitable vaccine access for the Indo-Pacific, with close coordination with multilateral organizations including the WHO and COVAX," it added.

A joint working group has been formed to oversee the implementation of the vaccine programme. Similarly, Shringla said, two more joint working groups have been constituted to work on other important agenda of the Quad like technology and climate change.

Earlier, addressing the Summit virtually, Modi said the grouping was a positive extension of the country's ancient philosophy of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam, which regards the world as one family.

The meeting was also attended by US President Joe Biden, Australian PM Scott Morrison and his Japanese counterpart Yoshihide Suga.

"Today's summit meeting shows that Quad has come of age. It will now remain an important pillar of stability in the region," Modi said.

LAC standoff discussed at Quad meet

PUSHKAR BANAKAR @New Delhi

THE standoff between Indian and Chinese troops in Eastern Ladakh along the LAC came up for discussion with other regional and global issues during the Quad leaders meeting on Friday.

"The LAC standoff in Eastern Ladakh was discussed during the Quad Leadership Summit and members had sympathetic views," sources said.

The Quad, comprising India, Australia, Japan and the US, has been perceived to be a grouping form to keep in check China's aggressiveness and actions in the Indo-Pacific region, especially in the South China Sea. However, Foreign Secretary Harsh Vardhan Shringla said the Quad was formed to help make positive progress.

"Together, we commit to promoting a free, open rules-based order, rooted in international law to advance security and prosperity and counter threats to both in the Indo-Pacific and beyond. We support the rule of law, freedom of navigation and overflight, peaceful resolution of disputes, democratic values, and territorial integrity. We commit to working together and with a range of partners. We reaffirm our strong support for ASEAN's unity and centrality as well as the ASEAN Outlook on the Indo-Pacific. Full of potential, the Quad looks forward to the future; it seeks to uphold peace and prosperity and strengthen democratic resilience, based on universal values," a joint statement released after the meet stated.

Reacting to the meeting, China said: "We hope that relevant countries uphold the principles of openness, inclusiveness and win-win results and refrain from pursuing exclusive blocs and do things that are conducive to regional peace, stability and prosperity.

"Exchanges and cooperation between nations should contribute to the mutual understanding and trust among nations, rather than targeting a third party or damaging the interest of a third party," Chinese foreign ministry spokesperson Zhao Lijian said.

India to make 1 bn-plus doses with Quad bloc

NEW DELHI: The Quad leaders have chalked out a plan to implement the vaccination initiative to manufacture 1 billion doses by the end of 2022.

According to a fact sheet issued by the MEA, Quad partners are working collaboratively to achieve expanded manufacturing of safe and effective Covid-19 vaccines at facilities in India, prioritising increased capacity for vaccines authorized by Stringent Regulatory Authorities (SRA).

The US, through the DFC, will work with Biological E Ltd, to finance increased capacity to support Biological E's effort to produce at least 1 billion doses of vaccines by the end of 2022 with SRA and/or WHO Emergency Use Listing (EUL), including the Johnson & Johnson vaccine. Japan, through JICA, is in discussions to provide concessional yen loans for India to expand manufacturing for vaccines for export.

Australia will contribute US$77 million for the provision of vaccines and "last-mile" delivery support. ENS

PLEA IN SC AGAINST PROVISIONS IN PLACE OF WORSHIP ACT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday sought the Centre's response to a plea filed before it challenging the validity of certain provisions of a 1991 law, which prohibits the filing of a lawsuit to reclaim a place of worship or seek a change in its character from what prevailed on August 15, 1947.

The plea assumes significance as there has been a demand by some Hindu groups to reclaim religious places at Mathura and Kashi, which are prohibited under the 1991 law. The petition alleges that the 1991 law creates an arbitrary and irrational retrospective cut-off date of August 15, 1947, for maintaining the character of the places of worship or pilgrimage against encroachment done by fundamentalist-barbaric invaders and law-breakers.

A bench of CJI S A Bobde and Justice A S Bopanna issued the notice to the Centre on the plea filed by BJP leader and advocate Ashwini Upadhyay, seeking that Sections 2, 3, 4 of the Places of Worship (Special Provisions) Act, 1991 be set aside on grounds including that these provisions take away the right of a judicial remedy to reclaim a place of worship of any person or a religious group.

The law has made only one exception — on the dispute pertaining to the Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masjid at Ayodhya.

India, China to continue pullout talks

NEW DELHI: India and China held the 21st meeting of the Working Mechanism for Consultation and Coordination on India-China Border Affairs on Friday where both sides agreed that the disengagement at Pangong Lake provided a good basis to work towards the resolution of remaining issues.

"The two sides agreed that the agreement reached between the two foreign ministers in Moscow in September last year as also their recent phone conversation last month, should continue to guide the work of the two sides. They should continue their dialogue to reach a mutually acceptable solution for complete disengagement from all friction points at the earliest. They also agreed that in the interim two sides should continue to maintain stability at ground level and prevent any untoward incident," an MEA statement said

According to the MEA, the two sides reviewed the situation along the LAC in the Western Sector and had in-depth discussions on the remaining issues along the LAC in the Western Sector. ENS

Faceless BJP brass in Uttarakhand hoping Brand Modi will steal show

To fight anti-incumbency & faction feud, saffron party reworks strategy before 2022 polls

MANISH ANAND @ New Delhi

THE BJP appears to have opted for a "faceless" leadership in Uttarakhand to contest next year's Assembly elections in the name of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. In selecting Tirath Singh Rawat as the new chief minister, BJP has sought to silence the ambitions of factions within the state unit by sending out the message that Brand Modi will overwhelm the anti-incumbency against the state government.

On Friday, the saffron party projected a semblance of caste balance by appointing Madan Kasuhik, a Brahmin, as the state unit president. The new chief minister is a Kshatriya. Uttarakhand politics is known to have two strong electoral bases in the Brahmin and Kshatriya castes.

The BJP has seemingly taken confidence from the Bihar poll verdict where the party topped its senior alliance partner JD (U) despite an overwhelming anti-incumbency factor against the NDA government.

CM Tirath Singh Rawat (R) with state BJP chief Madan Kaushik on Friday | EXPRESS

"It was Brand Modi which pulled through in the Bihar elections despite the local leadership struggling to pull crowds and Chief Minister Nitish Kumar facing public anger in the rallies. With no big face in the party in Bihar, the leadership in the state was also faceless, which didn't allow room for faction fighting. The Bihar message is being sent afresh in Uttarakhand," said a senior BJP functionary in the know.

The move to take former Deputy Chief Minister Sushil Kumar Modi off state politics is seen within the party as a pattern repeated in the removal of Trivendra Singh Rawat as chief minister. Tirath Singh Rawat is a rank outsider in the power game, which gives the party's central leadership scope to experiment due to the "mass appeal of the Prime Minister".

With the BJP amplifying the Central schemes in state elections, the saffron outfit also seems to be confident that Brand Modi can blunt the anti-incumbency factor in the party-ruled states.

With Uttarakhand going to the elections in less than a year, the BJP estimates that the new CM will at best be seen as the representative of the PM in pushing for the implementation of the Central schemes and projects, besides dousing the faction fights.

CM starts with withdrawal of lockdown cases

DEHRADUN: CM Tirath Singh Rawat on Friday held his first cabinet meeting immediately after 11 ministers took oath. They decided to withdraw cases registered under Epidemic Act 1897 and Disaster Management Act, 2005.

"One of the first decisions was withdrawing cases registered during the lockdown. Other decisions include review of development authorities which came into existence after 2016," said Om Prakash, chief secretary.

At around 5.30 pm, 11 ministers took oath. There were four new faces — Bansidhar Bhagat, Bishan Singh Chuphal, Swami Yatishwarananda and Ganesh Joshi. Apart from CM, the state now has eight cabinet ministers and 3 ministers of state. Distribution of departments will be done soon.

Of the 13 districts in the state, Pauri has three ministers. Udham Singh Nagar and Dehradun have two each. Others ministers are from Haridwar, Nainital, Tehri, Pithoragarh and Almora districts.

Centre worried about rising Covid numbers in six states

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

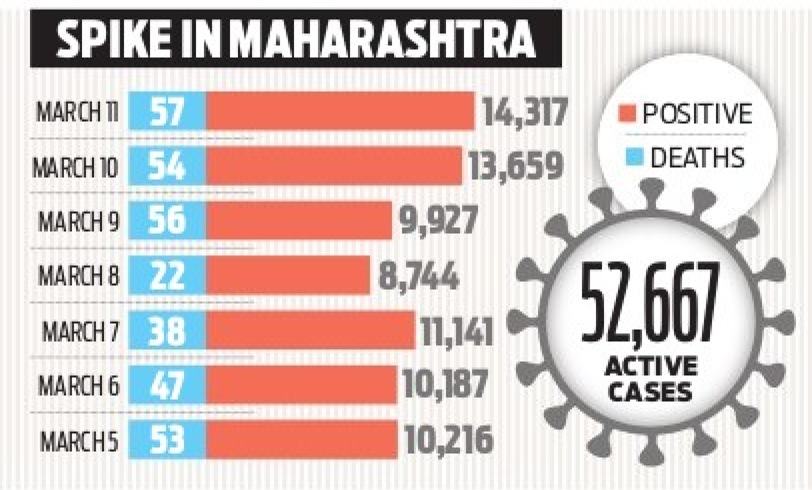
SIX states — Maharashtra, Kerala, Punjab, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu and Gujarat — continue to report a surge in Covid-19 cases. Together, they account for 85.6 per cent of the new cases reported in a day India, the Centre said on Friday.

On Thursday, 23,285 new cases were registered across India, with 117 deaths. According to a statement issued by the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, Maharashtra reported the highest daily new cases at 14,317, which is 61.48 per cent of the daily new cases reported in the country. It was followed by Kerala with 2,133 and Punjab with 1,305.

Eight states — Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, Madhya Pradesh, Punjab, Delhi, Gujarat, Karnataka and Haryana — have been witnessing an upward trajectory in daily new cases and the active caseload now stands at 1.74 per cent of India's total positive cases.

As on Friday, five states cumulatively accounted for 82.96 per cent of the total active cases in the country. Maharashtra and Kerala account for 71.69 per cent of the country's total active cases.

Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Punjab, Kerala and Maharashtra have 83 per cent of total active cases in the country. On Thursday, in a press briefing, senior officials of the Centre expressed deep worry over the second wave of infections in some parts of the country including Maharashtra, where cases have been rising.



Almost 90% of cases in Mumbai from high-rises

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

NEARLY 90 per cent of Covid-19 cases in Mumbai in the first two months of 2021 were reported from high-rise residential buildings. According to a report by the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC), a large number of patients are reported from posh localities such as Andheri East and West, Mulund and Peddar Road and Malabar Hill in south Mumbai.

Of the total 23,002 people who tested positive in January and February, only 10 per cent were from slums and chawls. Over the past few days, though, positive cases in slums are also on the upswing.

The report says Mumbai city had 10 containment zones and 137 sealed buildings on March 1. The number of such zones went up to 27 and the figure for the sealed buildings was 228 on March 10. The BMC's note points out that of the 7.46 lakh people living in these zones, over 23 per cent were from slums and chawls, while 77 per cent were from the sealed buildings.

The number of containment zones and sealed buildings increased by 170 per cent and 66.42 per cent, respectively, from the beginning of this month, the civic body said. A senior BMC official blamed the casual approach of the people for the sudden spike.

Elsewhere in Maharashtra, lockdown has been declared in parts of Aurangabad, Jalgaon, Dhule, Amaravati and Nagpur. Chief secretary Sitaram Kunte had a meeting with district authorities and asked them to enforce lockdown strictly.

Netflix seeks more time to address concerns on show

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

A day after the National Commission for Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) issued a notice to Netflix for alleged wrongful depiction of children in the web series Bombay Begums, the OTT platform submitted its response seeking more time to examine the matter and address the concerns

Priyank Kanoongo, the chairperson of the apex child rights body, said on Friday that a senior Netflix official met him and submitted a written explanation which is being examined. "The series Bombay Begums has to be removed. There are no two ways about it. We have just given them time till Tuesday that Netflix can look into the matter," he added.

The Netflix official also requested for a meeting with the panel which will include their content team. The request was accepted and the meeting is scheduled for 11.30 am on Tuesday, Kanoongo said.

Taking strong exception to a minor being shown as taking cocaine at a party in one of the episodes, the NCPCR's two-page notice said that "from normalisation casual sex by minors, web series are now normalizing use of drugs". It sought a detailed action taken report within 24 hours, failing which it said that it will be constrained to initiate appropriate action under Section 14 of the Commissions for Protection of Child Rights Act, 2005.

Filmmakers, however, questioned if the NCPRC notice was another assault on creative freedom. "Do these people spend all their time watching OTT shows or do they actually work for child rights?" filmmaker Hansal Mehta tweeted. Commenting on his post, filmmaker Anubhav Sinha, in a sarcastic tweet, said, "They are doing their 'job'. We are not doing ours. This too shall 'not' pass."

Journalist-turned-filmmaker Pritish Nandy wondered if "creative freedom (is) under siege" while actor Sulagna Chatterjee asked people to not let "these bullies and honking-loudspeakers of 'culture saviours' silence our artistic integrity, please".

"Each and every struggle and fight was India's strong declaration of truth against the forces of falsehood, a testimony to India's independent temperament. He flagged off a yatra from Sabarmati Ashram to commemorate the Dandi march.

Modi also mentioned freedom movements, including Sanyasi, Ramoshi, Kittur, Travancore, Bardoli Satyagrah, Champaran Satyagrah, Sambhalpur, Chuar, Bundel and Kuka uprisings, which gave strength to the larger mobilisation of the people to fight.

Check Myanmar influx, 4 states told

SANA SHAKIL @ New Delhi

THE home ministry on Friday directed four Northeastern states — Mizoram, Manipur, Nagaland, Arunachal Pradesh — to "take action as per law to check illegal influx from Myanmar into India," sources told this newspaper.

A top ministry functionary called up the four chief ministers to brief them about India's position on the issue. The chief ministers were told that the states did not have any power to grant refugee status to foreigners since India is not a signatory to UN convention, government sources said.

The states were asked to maintain vigil and control at the borders with Myanmar in view of repeated incidents of people from the country attempting to cross over to India. "The chief ministers were told to examine the influx on a case to case basis and provide shelter to only those facing genuine persecution," said a senior government official.

Many are believed to be trying to cross over to India, with these four states sharing border with Myanmar. Mizoram, especially, has been seeing an influx following the military coup in the country.s

No religious construction on roads, says UP govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Lucknow

THE Uttar Pradesh government has issued an order disallowing religious construction on roads, lanes, footpaths or along national and state highways. These instructions have been issued in compliance with the order of Allahabad High Court, said a state government release.

Officials entrusted with the maintenance of roads and national highways have been asked to check constructions related to any religion or faith on roads and highways. In a missive issued to all 18 divisional commissioners, 75 district magistrates and all police officers, the state government has ordered that religious constructions made on public property after January 1, 2011 be identified and removed.

The communication from the state's home department makes it clear that constructions carried out before the date specified be shifted in a phased manner to the land offered by the followers of that religion or private land proposed by persons responsible for its management, which shall belong to their community, within six months or it will be removed. It also states that in case of deviation or disobedience of these instructions, officials concerned would be held responsible.

The home department communication also made clear that encroaching public land through such constructions won't be allowed. Disobedience will be taken as deliberate contempt of high court orders, which will be considered as criminal contempt, it said.

Biden eyes independence from Covid virus by July 4

All Americans to be eligible for vaccination by May 1, says president

WASHINGTON

US President Joe Biden has announced that all adult Americans will be eligible for Covid-19 vaccination by May 1 under an ambitious plan to get the country, worst-hit by the pandemic, closer to normal by July 4th, Independence Day.

In his first prime-time address to the nation on Thursday since assuming office on January 20, Biden offered an ambitious plan to lift the country from the worst health crisis using a pair of upcoming dates: May 1, by which he will order states to allow all adults to receive vaccines; and July 4, when he said Americans can again celebrate Independence Day in person.

"After this long hard year, that will make this Independence Day something truly special, where we not only mark our independence as a nation but begin to mark our independence from this virus," he said in his address, shortly after he signed a $1.9 trillion relief package. His speech also came a year after the outbreak was classified as a pandemic by the WHO.

Laying out new steps in the school reopening effort, Biden said his administration will continue to take steps to combat the spread of variants including expanding testing and genomic sequencing.

Biden said that he is using every power he has as President of the United States to put the US on a war footing to get the job done.

"It sounds like hyperbole, but I mean the war footing, and thank God we are making some real progress now. In my first full day in office, I outlined for you a comprehensive strategy to beat this pandemic. We have spent every day since attempting to carry it out," he said. "There is light and better days ahead," he said.

As of Thursday, he said total deaths in America due to Covid-19 is over 5,27,000. That's more deaths than in World War I, World War II, the Vietnam War, and 9/11 combined, he said. "They were husbands, wives, sons, and daughters, grandparents, friends, neighbours, young and old. They leave behind loved ones unable to truly grief or to heal, even have a funeral...," he said. The US is the worst-hit country with the world's highest number of cases and deaths at 29,150,068 and 529,102, respectively, according to Johns Hopkins University.

Biden said his administration has been working with vaccine manufacturers, Pfizer, Moderna, Johnson & Johnson to manufacture and purchase hundreds of millions of doses of these three safe, effective vaccines. And now at the direction and with the assistance of his administration, Johnson & Johnson is working together with a competitor, Merck, to speed up and increase the capacity to manufacture new Johnson & Johnson vaccines which is one shot, he said. Agencies

> Most importantly, I promise I will do everything in my power. I will not relent until we beat this virus. But I need you, the American people, I need you. I need every American to do their part. That's not hyperbole, I need you. There is light and better days ahead

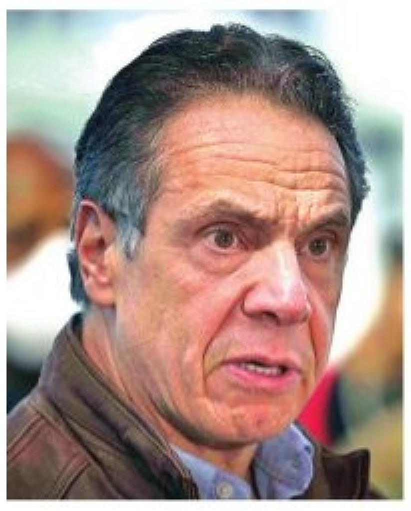
CUOMO'S FATE HANGS BY A THREAD, FACES IMPEACHMENT

NEW YORK

NEW York Governor Andrew Cuomo's grip on power appeared increasingly threatened Thursday as a majority of state legislators called for his resignation, Democrats launched an impeachment probe and police in the state capital said they stood ready to investigate a groping allegation.



The firestorm around the Democrat grew a day after the Times Union of Albany reported that an unidentified aide had claimed Cuomo reached under her shirt and fondled her at his official residence late last year.The woman hasn't filed a criminal complaint, but a lawyer for the governor said Thursday that the state had reported the allegation to the Albany Police Department after the woman involved declined to do so herself.

"In this case the person is represented by counsel and when counsel confirmed the client did not want to make a report, the state notified the police department and gave them the attorney's information," said Beth Garvey, the governor's acting counsel. An Albany Police Department spokesperson didn't immediately return a message from The Associated Press, but told The New York Times police had reached out to a representative for the woman.

The possible involvement of police comes as more lawmakers called on Cuomo to resign over alleged misconduct with women and allegations that his administration concealed how many nursing home residents died of Covid-19.

At least 121 members of the state Assembly and Senate have said publicly they believe Cuomo should quit office now, according to a tally by The Associated Press. The count includes 65 Democrats and 56 Republicans.

The top Democrat in the state Assembly, Speaker Carl Heastie, on Thursday backed a plan for its judiciary committee to launch an impeachment investigation.

Journalists charged over coup coverage

YANGON

A Myanmar court formally charged five journalists on Friday, including a photographer from AP, over their coverage of anti-coup protests, after a week in which the military junta raided newsrooms and revoked media licences.

Five journalists covering an anti-coup protest in Yangon last month were arrested and are facing charges of "causing fear, spreading false news or agitating directly or indirectly a government employee".

The junta had amended the law after the coup, increasing the maximum sentence from two years to three years in jail. Friday's hearing saw the five journalists—who were present via video conference—formally charged, as a US embassy representative waited outside the court.

One of the journalists was Thein Zaw, a photographer for Associated Press. His brother told AFP after the hearing that he was able to go inside to meet the defendant video conference. "We got the chance to speak for two minutes," said Myint Kyaw, adding that Thein Zaw was in tears.

"He said he's still okay inside and not to worry too much about him and that he is in good health." The four others are from Myanmar Photo Agency, 7Day News, Zee Kwet Online news, and a freelancer.

Their hearing comes at the end of a week that saw the offices of two local media outlets—Myanmar Now and Mizzima—raided.

They also had their publishing licences revoked, as did independent media, DVB, Khit Thit and 7Day News.

Mizzima's editor Soe Myint said Thursday via video conference during a panel at the Foreign Correspondents' Club of Thailand that his staff were "well prepared" for such a crackdown on the press.

"Personally, I'm ready to face any (future), including being killed," Soe Myint told the panel. "This is what we have to do in order to be independent media in the country."

Meanwhile, scores of Myanmar policemen and their families have now fled to India.

As of Friday, a total of 264 people had done so, including 198 police officers and family members, security officials said. "The reason to come over from Myanmar to India is because I don't want to serve under the military junta," one of the officers, who didn't want to be identified, told AFP.

"The second reason is that if I quit from the military and I join with the people, I believe we can win the fight against the junta," he said. AFP

Blame Imran, military if anything happens to Maryam: Nawaz Sharif

Pakistan's deposed prime minister Nawaz Sharif has accused the country's powerful military establishment of threatening his daughter Maryam Nawaz, warning that if anything happens to her Prime Minister Imran Khan and the three top generals would be responsible for it. In a video message from London, the PML-N supremo said that they (military establishment) have threatened to 'smash' Maryam if she does not stop against them. "You have stooped so low. First you broke open the Karachi hotel room door where Maryam was staying. Now you are threatening her that if she does not stop, she will be smashed. If anything happens to her Imran Khan, Army chief Gen Qamar Javed Bajwa, ISI head Lt. Gen. Faiz Hameed and Gen Irfan Malik will be responsible," Sharif said.

Uproar over Chinese-made doormats with national flag

Sri Lanka has complained to Beijing over Chinese-made doormats featuring the island's national lion flag being sold through online retail giant Amazon, officials said Friday. Sri Lanka is highly sensitive to what it sees as any misuse of its national flag as well as Buddhist symbols. The Sri Lankan foreign ministry said it had taken up the issue with the Chinese embassy in Colombo, and also asked Colombo's mission in Beijing to track down the maker. The ministry has also instructed the Lankan embassy in US to "follow up on the matter" with Amazon.

Covid misinformation law causes concern

A law that punishes spreading coronavirus misinformation with jail time and hefty fines has caused concerns with critics labelled it an "appalling" attack on free speech. For spreading information deemed by authorities "wholly or partly false" related to Covid-19 or the state of emergency, the maximum punishment is three years in prison and a 1,00,000 ringgit ($24,000) fine. Those found guilty of funding acts of publishing misinformation face a jail term of up to six years and a 5,00,000 ringgit fine, according to a copy of the law. The shock move comes amid growing concerns about worsening freedom of expression. The Centre for Independent Journalism accused the government of using its emergency powers to "stifle any criticism of the current administration".

White House holds back rule raising mandatory minimum pay for H-1B visa

WASHINGTON

THE Biden administration on Friday issued a formal notification to delay the implementation of the previous Trump regime's controversial rule to raise mandatory minimum pay for foreign workers on the H-1B visa, the most sought after among Indian IT professionals.

The Department of Labour in its federal notification published on Friday said that it is considering whether to propose a further delay of the final rule's effective date and accompanying implementation periods that are currently scheduled to take effect on May 14, 2021, and July 1, 2021, respectively.

Before further delaying the effective date and implementation periods, the Department will provide the public an opportunity to comment, it said.

On February 1, the Department of Labour proposed to delay the effective date of the final rule entitled Strengthening Wage Protections for the Temporary and Permanent Employment of Certain Aliens in the United States, published in the Federal Register on January 14, 2021, for a period of 60 days.

The Department proposed to delay the effective date of the final rule until May 14, 2021, in accordance with the Presidential directive as expressed in the memorandum of January 20, 2021, from the Assistant to the President and Chief of Staff, entitled 'Regulatory Freeze Pending Review.'

In its comment submitted to the Department of Homeland Security, the Federation for American Immigration Reform (FAIR) asserted that the implementation of the Trump administration rule would reduce abuse of the H-1B programme by unscrupulous employers while also protecting American workers. PTI

Boeing gets $2.9 bn order for troubled MAX jets

New York: A US investment firm has ordered 24 of Boeing's 737 MAX-8 aircraft, with an option to order 60 more, the firm named 777 Partners announced on Friday. The order is worth $2.9 billion for the aerospace giant as it works to recover from the crisis sparked by the 20-month grounding of the MAX planes worldwide following two deadly crashes. "This is a significant order that speaks to 777 Partners' belief in the 737-8," said Boeing senior vice president of Commercial Sales and Marketing. Boeing was hit with 655 cancelations or plane order conversions last year.

Russia backs US plan for Taliban role in Af interim govt

KABUL

RUSSIA on Friday backed a US initiative to include the Taliban in a future interim Afghanistan government, as global powers ramp up efforts to secure a peace deal and end decades of war. The Russian foreign ministry's comments come as a May deadline looms for the United States to end its two-decade military involvement in the ravaged country.

Washington has encouraged the Afghan leadership to work towards establishing an "inclusive" government and proposed talks with the Taliban to secure a peace accord.

"The formation of an interim inclusive administration would be a logical solution to the problem of integrating the Taliban into the peaceful political life of Afghanistan," Russian foreign ministry spokeswoman Maria Zakharova told reporters ahead of talks next week in Moscow.

But she added that the decision should be made "by the Afghans themselves and should be resolved during negotiations on national reconciliation".

US President Joe Biden is wrapping up a review on whether to stick to an agreement with the Taliban negotiated by his predecessor Donald Trump who wanted to pull out the final US troops from Afghanistan by May. AFP

Goodwill Zwelithini helped build ties between South Africa's Zulus and the Indian community there | AFP

South Africa's controverisal king of Zulus dies aged 72

JOHANNESBURG

GOODWILL Zwelithini, the controversial but revered king of the Zulus, South Africa's largest ethnic group, died on Friday aged 72 after weeks in hospital for a diabetes-related illness, the palace announced.

The king wielded great influence among millions of Zulus through his largely ceremonial and spiritual role despite having no official power in modern South Africa. During a half-century-long reign, he revived festivals celebrating virgin women, was blamed for fuelling deadly xenophobic violence, slammed gays as "rotten" and enjoyed a lavish and hedonistic lifestyle in a country where millions live in poverty.

Zwelithini had a history of fostering reconciliation and cultural cooperation between his people and the Indian community of South Africa.

About half of South Africa's 1.4 million citizens of Indian origin—largely descendants of the first indentured labourers who arrived in ships as sugarcane plantation workers in the 17th Century—are believed to live in the KwaZulu-Natal province over which the monarch reigned.

Zwelithini, the eighth Zulu king, frequently referred to the Indians as being part of his loyal subjects, drawing a number of leaders as advisers from the Indian community.

The most notable of them was businessman and philanthropist Ishwar Ramlutchman, who the king anointed as a prince of the Zulu Kingdom for the work he had done to uplift the Zulu community.

At the 2019 event, Zwelithini highlighted the special relationship between his nation and India. "My association with the people of India and the prime minister, Narendra Modi, goes a long way," Zwelithini said. "We have been interacting for the past years to see how we can build good relations and transfer of skills to my people." PTI

States' estimates show large tax shortfall

Revised estimates of 11 states that have presented budgets show tax revenue shortfall of ₹1.5 lakh crore this fiscal

SUNITHA NATTI

ELEVEN states that have presented FY22 budgets are likely to witness a tax revenue shortfall of ₹1.5 lakh crore this fiscal year. The states' own tax revenue is expected to slip quite sharply from ₹9.31 lakh crore (FY21 Budget Estimate) to ₹7.82 lakh crore (Revised Estimate), translating to a 16 per cent decline over initial projections. The 11 states analysed are Maharashtra, Karnataka, Gujarat, Uttar Pradesh, Rajasthan, Odisha, Kerala, Bihar, Jharkand, Chhattisgarh, and Madhya Pradesh.

Seven of these states, that had projected a revenue surplus for FY21 last year, moved to a deficit due to the revenue shortfall, while the debt to GSDP ratio was exacerbated due to the increase in debt and decline in growth. The highest fall in own tax revenue was witnessed in Kerala at 32.9 per cent, followed by UP (25 per cent), Gujarat (20.6 per cent), and Maharashtra at 18 per cent.

Of the total ₹9.31 lakh crore initially expected, 42 per cent was to come from GST, 19 per cent from VAT, 13 per cent from excise, and 11 per cent from stamp duty collections. There was a uniform fall in collections on all these fronts by 18 per cent, 13.6 per cent, 14.3 per cent and 23.8 per cent respectively, according to Care Ratings.

However, the projected own tax revenue of these states for the next fiscal year is set at ₹10.07 lakh crore, a 29 per cent increase over FY21 (RE) and 8.2 per cent over FY21(BE).

One of the major concerns arising from the states' inability to raise revenue has been capex cuts made to meet fiscal deficit targets—made worse due to lockdown-related project delays and labour migration. While most states have set their FY22 capex at levels closer to FY21, some such as UP, Maharashtra, and Gujarat have seen aggressive increases. Others have tried making up for the lower expenditure in FY21. According to Care, budgetary targets for FY22 were based on a sharp recovery in income taxes and the significant increase in fiscal space provided by the Finance Commission allowing higher borrowings.

Meanwhile, expenditure cuts were a corollary even as the Centre afforded more space for states to run higher deficits. The fiscal also saw revenue shortfalls on almost all fronts as consumption was hit, leading to additional pressures on the Centre to compensate states for the GST shortfall.

TRAI gives 3 days to comply with bulk SMS norms

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TELECOM regulator TRAI on Friday warned entities that need to send out bulk SMS messages, such as banks and e-commerce companies, that they would be barred from sending out such communications unless they fully complied with its telemarketing rules within three days. TRAI had been forced to suspend the newly-implemented rules for a week starting Tuesday after large scale disruptions occurred in SMS operations and many OTP messages from banks and companies failed to be delivered.

The regulator blamed the lack of compliance for the disruption, noting that the principal entities (that send out bulk SMSes) had had two years to register themselves as required by law. On Friday, TRAI said all such entities will have to register themselves within three days or face a bar on sending such SMSes.

"It has been decided that those principal entities that do not comply with the regulatory requirements within three days time period failing which the names of defaulting entities would be displayed on the website. Even after this period, if they fail to fulfil the regulatory requirements, they would not be allowed to send bulk communication using telecom resources," TRAI said.

Telemarketing rules stipulate that principal entities, who need to send out messages, need to register with the messaging service provider, choose a header which will identify the entity in a few characters, register a content template, and take consumer consent before being allowed to send out bulk messages. The process had been published by TRAI under the Telecom Commercial Communications Customer Preference Regulations (TCCCPR), 2018, as far back as July 19, 2018, and the regulations had come into force on February 28, 2019.

The initial plan had been to weed out entities that had not complied through occasional scrubbing and on March 8, the regulator initiated just such a process. After this lead to the disruption in SMS traffic, TRAI put off the process by a week.

"Trai, hereby, once again requests all the principal entities (sender or businesses, private as well government bodies) using telecom resources to send bulk messages… to fulfil the regulatory requirements immediately," TRAI's Friday statement warned.

POWER

APP cries foul over change in discom bidding guidelines

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

THE power sector has heavily criticised recent changes to bidding guidelines governing the privatisation of Chandigarh's power distribution company (discom). These changes included an extension of the window for submitting eligible bids for the company.

In a letter sent to the Union power ministry and the Chandigarh Union Territory's administrator by the Association of Power Producers (APP), the industry body said that the tweaks, which were made after the end of initial deadline for submitting bids, vitiate the sanctity of the entire process and sets a bad precedent.

The notice inviting bids for the Chandigarh discom was issued on November 9, 2020 and was set to end on February 8. However, on March 8, Chandigarh UT issued an amendment to the bid document, modifying two clauses and extending the bidding date to March 18. The amendment also provided an opportunity for new bidders to enter the race and allowed existing bidders to modify their initial bids.

The APP said that six large corporates—state-owned NTPC, Tata Power, Adani Transmission, Torrent Power, Sterlite Power and ReNew Power—had already submitted bids to buy a 100 per cent stake in the distribution company.

"It is extremely surprising that an amendment to the RFP (request for proposal) documents was issued on March 8, 2021, i.e after the last date of bid submission," the APP wrote, noting that the amendment not only modifies certain clauses that would have an impact on the financial bid but also "allows new bidders to submit bids after the last date has already passed".

The association went on to demand an immediate withdrawal of the amendment and requested that the already initiated bid process be taken to its logical end, since "financial bids have already been submitted after due diligence and the last date for submission of bids has ended".

Fuel demand falls for 2nd straight month in Feb

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

8.5 per cent
m-o-m fall in diesel demand

6.5 per cent
m-o-m fall in petrol demand

HIGH fuel prices seem to be taking a toll on fuel consumption in India with petroleum product demand falling for the second straight month in February. According to data from the Ministry of Petroleum's Petroleum Planning and Analysis Cell (PPAC), overall petroleum product consumption fell 4.5 per cent to 17.212 million tonnes in February compared to the previous month as demand for both petrol and diesel contracted.

A perusal of the data shows that this is the lowest petroleum product demand recorded since September last year, when it had come in at just 15.5 million tonnes. While the month-on-month growth trend had had a hiccup in July and August, consumption falling from 16.09 million tonnes in June to 15.6 MT in July and 14.43 MT in August, demand had remained on a steady upward path beginning September (15.5 MT)—rising to 17.8 MT in October, 17.9 MT in November, and 18.6 MT in December 2020. But the sharp increase in fuel prices starting early this year has led to a reversal of the trend starting January 2021 at 18 MT.

Diesel and petrol consumption have both tracked the larger trend, falling for two straight months in January and February.

Diesel, the most used fuel in the country, saw demand fall 8.5 per cent in February compared to the previous month (6.55 MT) while petrol consumption was down 6.5 per cent to 2.4 million tonnes. Naphtha sales remained unchanged, but the sale of bitumen—used for making roads—fell 11 per cent. Cooking gas LPG sales, however, were up by 7.6 per cent.

Meanwhile, oil cartel OPEC's monthly oil report has forecast that India's oil demand would see a 13.6 per cent jump in 2021 to 4.99 million barrels per day. The country's oil demand had fallen 10.54 per cent in 2020 to 4.40 million bpd from 4.91 million bpd in 2019.

"The encouraging macroeconomic indicators, together with significant decreases in Covid-19 cases across the country, provided a solid foundation for India's 2021 oil demand outlook," it said.

OPEC said that the recent positive developments in industrial activity will result in industrial fuels being the backbone for oil demand growth, with a healthy rebound for transportation fuels providing further support. It noted, however, that the aviation sector will remain under pressure throughout 2021.

GOLDMAN EYES DEAL SURGE IN ASIA

Goldman Sachs has set up a team of Special Purpose Acquisition Company (SPCA) bankers in Hong Kong to focus on a rush of blank cheque deals emerging across Asia. A SPAC typically raises money to acquire a private company with the purpose of taking it public, allowing such targets to move quickly to the public markets. In Asia, SPAC deal volumes are behind those in the US but there have been $2.64 billion worth SPAC deals in Asia so far in 2021—more than the $2.46 billion in 2020, based on Dealogic data. Globally, there have been SPACs issues worth $79.3 billion since the start of the year, almost eclipsing the $83.3 billion raised during all of 2020. Citigroup is the most active SPAC bookrunner with a 14% share globally, ahead of Goldman Sachs at 12%, and Credit Suisse at 9%.

PHILIPPINES

COUNTRY MAY REOPEN ITS ECONOMY SOON

Philippines President Rodgrigo Duterte said the economy should be reopened soon and called for a quick vaccination drive for millions after the country reported the highest daily increase in Covid-19 infections in nearly six months. The Philippines economy was among the fatest growing in Asia pre-Covid, but strict and lengthy restrictions to limit the contagion have dampened consumer spending and left millions jobless. The economy would reopen if millions, especially those living around big cities, are already vaccinated, according to Duterte. The Philippines, which has the second-highest number of Covid-19 cases and deaths in Southeast Asia, started its vaccination programme on March 1 and aims to inoculate 70 million of its 108 million population in order to facilitate the reopening of the economy, which suffered a record slump in 2020.

CHINA

FIRMS PENALISED FOR ILLEGAL MONOPOLISTIC ACTIVITY

China's market regulator fined 12 companies for being involved in 10 deals that demonstrated illegal monopolistic behaviour. The companies included Baidu Inc, Tencent Holdings, Didi Chuxing, SoftBank, and a ByteDance-backed firm, the State Administration for Market Regulation (SAMR) said. These firms were fined $77,000 each for behaviour that caused market concentration but did not exclude all competition from other companies, SAMR added. China has stepped up scrutiny of its internet giants in recent months, citing concerns over monopolistic behaviour and potential infringement of consumer rights. SAMR has also fined Alibaba, Tencent-backed China Literature, a company involved in an auto-related deal and others for not reporting deals properly for reviews.

Tata Power denies reports of deal with Tesla Inc

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TATA Power on Friday said that reports claiming it had finalised a deal with Elon Musk's Tesla Inc for setting up charging infrastructure for electric vehicles in India were "factually incorrect".

"Our EV charging business are constantly examining and exploring various growth opportunities of the business. No arrangement or agreements have been finalised as reported in the media," said Tata Power in a regulatory filing.

The reports, however, had a positive impact on Tata Power stock during Friday, as its share prices rose 5.5 per cent during the day to their best closing level since June 9, 2014.

This is not the first time that a Tata Group company has been reported as being on verge of a deal with Tesla. Earlier this year, there had been industry speculation that Tata Motors and Tesla may join hands for EVs in India. Recently, though, Tata Sons shunned the rumours.

In January 2021, the US-based electric carmaker had incorporated Tesla Motors India and Energy Private Ltd in Bengaluru. According to the Government of Karnataka, Tesla will be setting up an electric-car manufacturing unit in South India.

Tesla is likely to commence India operations later this year by importing and selling its Model 3 electric sedan. While the company has a large EV charging network around the world, its plans for setting up such infrastructure in India is currently unknown. The Indian market also remains a small one due to high vehicle cost and scarce charging outlets.

Centre to sell off entire stake in Tata Communications via multiple routes

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Government of India (GoI) will sell its entire stake in Tata Communications—with 16.12 per cent offloaded through an offer-for-sale (OFS) and the rest sold to a Tata Sons investment company called Panatone Finvest Ltd, according to a regulatory filing.

Currently, the government holds a 26.12 per cent stake in Tata Communications, while Panatone Finvest Ltd holds 34.8 per cent and Tata Sons 14.07 per cent. "Tata Communications Ltd has today (Friday) signed an amendment agreement… for sale of the entire shareholding in the company by the Government of India," the filing said. GoI holds 7,44,46,885 equity shares of TCL, which, at the last closing price of ₹1,289.75 per unit, have a value of over ₹9,600 crore.

"Immediately after the OFS, the government shall sell the remaining equity shares held by it in the company to Panatone," Tata Communications said. The government stake in the company is a vestige of its history. GoI had set up VSNL in 1986, but sold 25 per cent in 2002 along with transfer of management control to Panatone, the strategic partner. Subsequent to the strategic disinvestment, the name was changed to Tata Communications Ltd.

Food inflation rises to 3.87% in February

MEANWHILE, food inflation rose steeply to 3.87% in February, compared with 1.89% in the previous month. Inflation in the 'fuel and light' category remained elevated at 3.53% during the month.

While retail inflation at 5.03% is still below RBI's upper tolerance level of 6%, experts feel it could make the central bank sit up and take notice.

"As we had suspected, perhaps the low point for inflation is behind us for some months to come. From a monetary policy perspective, the rising inflationary risks (fuel prices, demand pressures etc), although still nascent, could trigger some caution from the RBI," said Sakshi Gupta, senior economist at HDFC Bank.

'Bengaluru to lead office realty market in 2021'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AMONG India's major cities, office space absorption is likely to remain the highest in Bengaluru during 2021, according to a Savills India report.

The consultancy added that it is estimated that Bengaluru will absorb 14 million square feet of office area by the end of the year as confidence among corporates remains strong. The availability of a diverse talent pool and a robust tech ecosystem puts the city ahead of others, it added.

"Bengaluru is likely to witness a 20-30 per cent increase in absorption. Incremental supply is also expected to post a Y-o-Y growth of 20-30 per cent. Large-sized deals above 100,000 sq. ft. area are expected to form a major portion of the projected leasing in," it said.

The six major cities analysed in the report are expected to absorb 41.3 million square feet in 2021 marking a growth of 22 per cent from last year.

Mumbai is likely to post the highest y-o-y growth in leasing activity from 2.9 million square feet in 2020 to 5.5 million square feet in 2021, while Delhi-NCR is likely to see an increase of about 20-25 per cent in leasing in 2021.

"2021 would be an interesting year. For cities like NCR and Mumbai, we expect it to be a year of recovery and regaining lost ground,"Arvind Nandan, MD, Savills India.

Covid disruption leads to spike in freelance jobs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

WITH the Covid-19 pandemic leading to a large scale disruption in the job market last summer and forcing companies to restructure their workforce, freelancing job roles saw an explosion in number and demand during the period, according to a survey released by job portal Indeed on Friday. The company pointed out that freelance job postings on its website had grown by almost 22 per cent in January 2021 compared to January 2019.

But the sharpest jump was seen at the start of the disruption. Between May-June 2020, freelance job postings jumped almost two-fold compared to the previous year, Indeed found. With demand for digitalisation and re-skilling spiking sharply following the institution of the lockdown and strict social distancing norms, jobs in the creative, tech, sales, and recruitment fields contributed around 55 per cent of the total freelance job postings recorded on the portal.

The survey also gave a breakdown of the most popular freelance roles on the platform. As of January 2021, Freelance Writer was the most in-demand job, followed by Freelance Designer, Recruiter, Developer and Digital marketer. Business Development Executive and PhP developer also emerged among the top-10 freelance job titles in the Indian market, according to the survey.

The data also highlighted that searches for freelance jobs were highest in the 20-29 year age group, which contributed to 73 per cent of freelance searches in January.

"Pushing the freelance community to the fore, the pandemic year witnessed an increased hiring and search momentum for freelance jobs on Indeed. We believe that changes in the external job environment and the added flexibility of work-from-home models, has significantly improved the attitude of the employer and job seeker towards freelance jobs," Sashi Kumar, managing director, Indeed India pointed out.

Among the freelancing roles that attracted the highest pay on the platform were PHP Developer, Recruiter, Business Development Executive, Content Writer, and Digital Marketer profiles.

Federer withdraws from Dubai after Qatar exit

INDIA CHOKE, ENGLAND LAUGH

Kohli & Co's aggressive experiment with bat fails as they lose to visitors after posting 124

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

THE intention was clear. The execution fell way short. India, as Virat Kohli mentioned, wanted to play expressive cricket. One where nothing holds them back. An approach that aligns with the time, especially in T20s where teams after stocking their batting unit with powerpacked players, give them the license to go for the shots, irrespective of the situation. Risk percentage is higher, but in T20s there is no reward without risks.

That India wanted to move on from their relatively cautious approach in the format is a welcome sign. Even if their experiment ended up being a damp squib, like on Friday, it gives them time to get used to it. They totalled only 124/7, which England overhauled in no time. Though there seems to be nothing wrong in India's new approach, but they should identify players, who will allow them to adopt it. And they would be better off, if they assess the condition and realise the shots that will work on surfaces where ball doesn't come easily to the bat.

Rishabh Pant hits a reverse scoop off Jofra Archer in Ahmedabad on Friday | SPORTZPICS

"We will definitely not change the approach. If you look at our batting line-up and the power-hitters down the line, we don't need to change anything. We have come with a plan and we need to be executte it properly because going into the World Cup we need to ensure we have ticked all the boxes. This is a five-match series and it is a perfect time to try different things and see what ever suits us," Shreyas Iyer said.

Starting something new, India should have fielded their strongest XI. Instead, they chose to rest Rohit Sharma and played Shikhar Dhawan. Strike-rate was Dhawan's liability in T20s. Though he addressed it in the last IPL, whether he fits in India's scheme will remain a question. Having learnt his trade in a different era where T20s were still at early stages, Dhawan isn't the one who plays without putting a price on his wicket. His dismissal on Friday was uncharacteristic. Under normal circumstances he wouldn't have played it. "If the pitch allows you to, you can be aggressive from ball one. We didn't spend enough time assessing. We just weren't aware of what we had to do on that pitch, lack of execution on our shots and something we have to address" Kohli said.

If India are going to look at Dhawan only as a third-choice opener, they might as well groom Ishan Kishan for the role. The 22-year-old has been an exciting talent, who fits their bill of playing explosively. New approach needs players with X-factors, who have the confidence to pull off audacious shots like Rishabh Pant does. It is more natural to those who have grown up playing T20 cricket. Despite rescuing India with 67 runs, India may be playing Shreyas a trifle low at No 5, a slot that is usually reserved for more flamboyant, 360 degree players like Suryakumar Yadav.

And starting an experiment against a side like England is not at all easy either. Adil Rashid, Jofra Archer and Mark Wood strangled India in the powerplay, and they barely breathed thereafter.

Brief scores: India 124/7 in 20 ovs (Iyer 67; Archer 3/23) lost to England 130/2 in 15.3 ovs (Roy 49)

Asian boxing in New Delhi from May 21

ANMOL GURUNG @Chennai

IF everything goes fine, India is set to host its first international boxing event after pandemic disruption in May. The Asian Boxing Confederation (ASBC) announced that the Asian Boxing Championships will be held in New Delhi from May 21 to May 31. The Boxing Federation of India (BFI) had conveyed its willingness to host the event after consulting the sports ministry. The next step is to discuss the logistics surrounding the event.

In the next few days the BFI is expected to thrash out the modalities. "The Asian Elite Boxing Championships will be held in New Delhi, India as the first continental highlight of the year. The management of the Asian Boxing Confederation confirmed the date of the Asian Elite Boxing Championships, India can welcome participants in May 21-31," the ASBC said. The decision on the nationals is on hold.

Ecosystem for doubles needs to change: Jwala

SRINIDHI PR @Chennai

FOR a country that has produced Olympic champion, Commonwealth Games medallist and Asian Games winner in the badminton singles' category, it is hard to look at potential medal winners in doubles beyond Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty. Even as the Olympic qualification period was recently extended to June 15, Indian doubles shuttlers might not come close to punching their tickets. This is in contrast to the Rio Olympics, where seven Indian shuttlers including the women's doubles pair of Jwala Gutta and Ashwini Ponnappa and men's pair of Manu Attri and B Sumeeth Reddy participated.

With only Satwik and Chirag in a good position to qualify for the Tokyo Olympics in doubles — they are ranked 9th in the Race to Tokyo where the top 16 are eligible — former shuttler Jwala Gutta feels that there is a dearth of doubles specialists in the country at the moment.

The former World Championship bronze medallist is of the opinion that the entire doubles ecosystem has to change to produce medallists. "Why are we still banking on just one pair? If we are competing with China, they have four-five players in the draw. We have just one. Has badminton gone up, given that the players have more exposure now? I think doubles has gone down," said Jwala on the sidelines of a promotional event of the second edition of Tamil Nadu Badminton Super League in Chennai on Friday. "The whole attitude needs to change first. The ecosystem has to be different."

She believes that in order to increase the pool of doubles players at the national level, the federation should identify shuttlers at the sub-junior level, get them under their wings and nurture them. "You have to develop them from the sub-junior level (U-16), tell them if you do well, we will take care of you. You have to give that assurance," the 37-year-old added. "Also, we need to separate the doubles players from the national camp."

Batting at death, lack of depth a worry

SRINIDHI PR @Chennai

WHEN a team is coming back after a long layoff, it isn't fair to be harsh on their performance in the first series. India women's team is struggling to find its rhythm. The team lost the rain-marred third ODI against South Africa by five runs to trail 1-2 in the five-match series. Though long break did play its part, there are certain aspects of the game that might still remain a worry for the team.

After putting in to bat at Lucknow, Mithali Raj & Co posted 248 for five — their highest total since January, 2019. However, what could be a concern moving forward is their scoring rate in the last 10 overs. On Friday, it was below six runs per over. It is also beacuse they don't have a power-hitter after Harmanpreet Kaur at No 5.

On Friday, at the end of 46 overs, South Africa needed 28 from 24. They eventually won by a narrow margin by the DLS method after Lizelle Lee's unbeaten 132. Had the Indian batters accelerated at the death overs, it could have been a different result. At No 6, Deepti Sharma has an overall strike rate of 63.43 and wicketkeeper Sushma Verma has 60.

With the focus now on the next year's World Cup, skipper Mithali emphasised that having a settled batter in the last 10 overs is key to posting big totals. "We need to have batters playing the last 10 overs because the sort of game that a batter has and can use it to the optimum, the lower or tail-ender may not," the 38-year-old, who completed 10,000 runs across formats, said.

Brief scores: India 248/5 in 50 ovs (Punam 77) lost to SA 223/4 in 46.3 ovs (Lizelle 132 n.o) by DLS method.

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY @New Delhi

AFTER 114 days of non-stop action, the summit clash of the ISL is upon us. And the two contenders who will face off at the Fatorda Stadium on Saturday — Mumbai City FC and ATK Mohun Bagan have been by far the most consistent sides in the tournament and deserve to be in the final. Both clubs came into the final with identical records, 12 wins and just 4 defeats in the league stage.

While the game not only features big-name players, it is also a battle between two tactically astute managers employing vastly different footballing philosophies.

Sergio Lobera's side are known for their adherence to keeping possession of the ball and their emphasis on attacking play. This will be his second final, after leading FC Goa to a runners-up finish in season five. Having beaten the Mariners twice already this season, including in the final league game, Mumbai will certainly enter the final full of confidence. "When you play against good teams, it's not only about what you want. Playing against a team who have the same style, sometimes it's not possible for everything to work during 90 minutes. But we compete well in the bad moments and this is the most important thing. Finally, it (the style of play) is the most important thing. If you're playing in another way, you are not the strongest," he said.

On the other hand, Antonio Habas and his ATKMB side are the antithesis of their opposition. Their watertight defence boasts the best defensive record in the league, having conceded only 17 goals in 22 matches.

New BFC coach eyes offensive football

ASHIM SUNAM @Bengaluru

IT has been a unique season for Bengaluru FC. Not only were they knocked out of the Indian Super League from the group stages for the first time, they also parted ways with Carles Cuadrat in the middle of the campaign. The Blues finished the league with Naushad Moosa as an interim coach. And now, with the team having started their AFC Cup preparations on Friday, Marco Pezzaiuoli, who was appointed coach last month, took charge of his first session sans skipper Sunil Chhetri, who is recovering after testing positive for Covid-19 on Thursday.

Marco Pezzaiuoli during training at BFS on Friday | BFC MEDIA

Three coaches in a period of five to six months means players need to unlearn a few things, and understand the new boss' style of play. The first day of training witnessed players undergo some intense training, and the gaffer was quite happy with players giving their all.

However, Pezzaiuoli is not alien to their style as he watched Bengaluru play in the later stages of the ISL as well.The German-born Italian also threw light on how his team could play.

"Everything (will be) offensive football, active football as well. We try to give the opponent a lot of stress to get the ball early. I like to play football with the ball. I do not want to kick and rush, that is one option to play football, play long long balls, but I like to create situations," said Pezzaiuoli, who wants to see his players more on the training ground and then arrive at a system, which he would like to use in the next competition. "The system depends on players. That is why I need to see players. I need to find the right system for my team in the AFC at the moment and put the best players in best position for the team."

Pezzaiuoli has a contract with the Blues till the end of 2023-24 season. He has an impressive resume, which includes a team analyst for Germany at Euro 2008, TSG Hoffenheim's assistant manager among other roles. His recent stint was with Eintracht Frankfurt as a Technical Director.

"I am not the person that wants to stay at the bottom of the league. I want to be at the top. Also, one part is to bring young players to the first team from our academy, but it may also be from outside the academy," he said.

BDFA raps players, staff

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Bangalore Division Football Association came down heavily on Bengaluru FC players and staff after their Monday incident, following their 2-3 loss to FC Bengaluru United in Super Division League here.

They have imposed a fine of ₹5000 and ban of three months on Harpreet Singh, Jagdeep Singh (₹10,000, six months), assistant coach Rajan Mani (₹15,000, six months), assistant manager and operator Satish Kumar (₹ 50,000, 12 months).

The decision was taken by the BDFA disciplinary committee, which was chaired by chairman Dr Anthony SL. It also included two KSFA, BDFA and referee committee members each. They also warned BFC, that such things should not happen in the future. The club players and officials were involved in unruly behaviour with the referees, who also had to leave the venue under police protection on Monday.

DAY'S DIARY

Uranus discovered

Sir William Herschel found the seventh planet, Uranus, on this day in 1781, while scouring the night sky for comets

THE NAME

He suggested naming it Georgium Sidus, or George's Star, after King George III. But the name was not appreciated outside of England. German astronomer Johann Elert Bode named it Uranus after an ancient Greek god of the sky

CHANCE DISCOVERY

Herschel observed the planet using a telescope of his own creation. He was in fact surveying the sky for binary stars when he chanced upon the planet

IN ANOTHER DIRECTION

Uranus turns on its axis once every 17 hours, 14 minutes. It rotates in a retrograde direction, opposite to the way Earth and most other planets turn

This upcoming performance will showcase Indian and Japanese artistes as they connect over personal memories and experiences

COMMON CONNECT

EXPRESS FEATURES

EVER imagined forging a connection with someone you have never met? This forms the premise of Scape, which has been organised by Attakkalari, in association with the Japan Foundation. The hybrid performance showcases the story of two artistes from two countries, India and Japan, where one performs live and the other is present through a video.

Scape, which takes place at Ranga Shankara on March 16, features Hemabharathy Palani from Bengaluru and Ryu Suzuki, a performing artiste, choreographer and dancer from Yokohama, in the lead. It also includes other artistes like Tatsuki Amano and MD Pallavi. This performance will have Palani perform live while Suzuki's part will be shown in a video. Through this, they hope to explore the lives of two individuals who have never met before, except through technology. Both the artistes are chronicling and sharing their personal memories and experiences of people, objects, places and events through technology, while transcending constraints of geography and language. "For instance, in the video, which has been shot by Nao Yoshigai, Ryu explains his connection with a toy Doremon, a non-living object that he is connected to and is afraid to lose. I can't understand that fear of loss because I have already lost my father," says Palini, whose choreography is based on the music that is in the video.

Palini is an award-winning choreographer and dancer who is trained in ballet, contemporary dance, Kalaripayattu, yoga as well as Bharatanatyam and Kuchipudi. But her part in the event goes beyond dance, it has her sharing her story as well. "But there are certain parts where Pallavi's voice is my inner voice," says Palini, adding that she started to work on this project in January, when the show was conceptualised.

The idea may sound layered to many but Jayachandran Palazhy, creative director of Attakkalari, says it is simple and something they thought of when there was no means of reaching out, leaving people with digital ways to reconnect. "During the lockdown, artistes could not travel to spread the knowledge of art but through the digital medium, they got back in touch and continued to know each other," explains Palazhy.

The event will take place at Ranga Shankara on March 16.

'Many govts are anti-cartoon'

US cartoonist Daryl Cagle, whose works are on display in city, talks about the pros and perils of being a political cartoonist

MONIKA MONALISA

Art is often known to hold up a mirror to society. Just ask US-based political cartoonist Daryl Cagle, whose cartoons don't mince any ideas. City residents can now get a glimpse of his work, which is currently being exhibited at Indian Cartoon Gallery, and will continue till March 27. Over a career spanning 40 years, Cagle, has seen it all when it comes to the media's transition from print to broadcast to digital. "Editorial cartoons are an important part of journalism, and like other journalists, we've suffered from the decline of print publications. The internet hasn't developed a culture of paying for content. Also, like other journalists, cartoonists increasingly suffer from repressive regimes – political cartoonists around the world are tortured, imprisoned, sued and sometimes killed," says Cagle.

Giving the internet some credit, he adds that his work has been seen by more people than ever before. He has worked with Jim Henson's Muppets for close to 20 years and was an advertising illustrator as well. His preference, however, goes towards being an editorial cartoonist. "I draw in my own style, I draw what I choose to draw and express my own opinions. Being an editorial cartoonist is much more rewarding than being an illustrator," says Cagle, who likes the works of Indian cartoonists Shankar Parmarthy and Paresh Nath.

He does agree that speaking the truth can have consequences as well, especially with editorial cartoonists being tagged 'anti-government'. "Cartoonists speak the truth about power and often anger the people in power. That is not being 'anti-government', it is an important part of democracy. Editorial cartoonists are often courageous. In countries like India, cartoonists can be thrown in jail when governments don't like their cartoons. It is more accurate to say that many governments are 'anti-cartoon'," he says, adding that the world is becoming more dangerous for journalists and editorial cartoonists in particular. He lists out instances to support his point: Cartoonist friends in France who were murdered by terrorists; last week a cartoonist in Bangladesh, Ahmed Kabir Kishore, who was released from prison, pending trial for the crime of posting cartoons on Facebook that were critical of his government's Covid response, and so on. Currently, Ahmed is in the hospital and suffers permanent hearing loss from torture he suffered in prison.

Cagle says, "I'm fortunate to live in the United States where I don't have to fear for my safety. The most trouble I have received is angry emails and newspapers cancelling their subscriptions."

The cartoons are on display at Indian Cartoon Gallery till March 27

Started by an engineer in memory of his late mother, this grant offers 'no strings attached' fund to applicants for a passion project

Grant and gratitude

EXPRESS FEATURES

There are many ways to remember a departed loved one. For Thejesh GN, the best way to honour his mother's legacy was by doing what she loved to do – help those in need. This made the city-based engineer start the Nagarathna Memorial Grant, which is in its fourth edition this year. Named after his late mother, this micro-grant offers monetary help of up to ₹1 lakh to anyone who wishes to pursue a passion project. "Growing up, my mother's economical situation was not good and she received a lot of aid from her neighbours, which helped her complete her education. She passed on the same goodwill," says Thejesh, who wanted to keep the practice going. "When she passed away five years ago, I knew I didn't want to perform any rituals. I wanted to help people the way she did," he says.

The grant involves a "no strings attached" offer, wherein applicants can request funds for any purpose they like. "The reason could be anything as long as it is meaningful to the person and others around. I shell out ₹1 lakh from my own earnings. The number of grantees varies and then the amount gets divided," says Thejesh. Last year, the sum was split between three beneficiaries: Ejana Trust for publication of a new book titled Putta Puttiya Parisarada Paatagalu; Sanchaya/ Sanchi for digitising of copyright-free Kannada books and uploading them to archive.org; and Janasuddi, which is a science podcast in Kannada.

While Thejesh prefers applications for open-source projects, it is not a mandatory prerequisite. "I don't even ask any questions about how the money was used after I hand it over," he says. So how does he ensure the authenticity of applications? "If someone lies about how they will use the money, that's up to them. No one doubted my mother when they helped her out in her childhood. I just want to keep that good faith going," he says.

The last day to apply for the grant is March 14. For details, visit thejeshgn.com

SAHAJA ARDHA MALASANA

(FLOWING HALF GARLAND POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'sahaja' means natural or innate, 'ardha' means half, 'mala' means garland, and 'asana' means pose. It is a flowing variation of the half squat, Ardha Malasana, which itself is a variation of Malasana. It has a range of physical benefits, including increased flexibility and strength in the lower body, particularly the legs and groin muscles. The pose calms and focuses the mind. It is believed to balance the Muladhara (root) Chakra, which is associated with grounding, a sense of security, safety and trust. It is one of the postures in the Chandra Namaskara (Moon Salutation) Vinyasa. Chandra Namaskara is practiced in the evening as a soothing, quieting sequence that prepares the mind and body for sleep.

STEPS

- Assume Parivrtta Utkata Konasana.
- Then release from this pose, looking forward.
- Exhale and move your entire body towards the left side in a flow and straighten the right leg to go in spontaneous flowing half squat.
- While you may feel the stretch more in the inner thighs, get the focus towards the right arm while in the stretch.
- Stay for two breaths.
- Look down and breathe deep using the core muscles to the maximum.
- Make sure that the ankles and heels are in a straight line.
- Observe that the bent leg is at 90 degrees.
- Raise your arms to shoulder level. You can choose to carry weights (two kg) to do this pose.
- Now in a dynamic way, move your arms in and out.
- Repeat the pose on the right side in a flow.

BENEFITS

- Involves stretch, forward-bend, twist-bend, forward-bend, twist.
- Helps lower back, middle back, biceps and triceps, hamstrings, hips, knees , neck and pelvic.
- Stretches and strengthens the groin muscles.
- Helps improve flexibility and mobility. Also improves balance and core strength.
- Recommended for runners.
- Helps boost energy in the body and hence can be included in flow yoga sequences.

LIMITATIONS

- Anyone suffering from severe lower body injuries, avoid this asana.
- This should not be practised during menstruation.
- It should also be avoided during pregnancy.

STAYING ALIVE WITH MEANING

(From left) Bia, Husna, Michelle, Aloma, Babita

Saritha Hegde

Champa Kabra

It is the essence of survival that nature sniffs out the weakest and the most vulnerable. In the wild, the smallest creatures contort themselves and puff up to appear larger to save themselves and scare off predators. Even the mighty lion with a headful of mane, is a natural leader along with being more attractive to the ladies of his species. Kumbaya!

Only the human species is the wiliest. In medieval times, warriors donned heavy amour and had to be lowered by a winch into the contraption, usually from a horse. When I saw Henry the 8th's amour in the tower of London, I was awestruck. The amour plate stood at least 10 feet tall, with huge steel plates to protect his family jewels, whose size was grossly exaggerated. Talk about telling tales that ultimately go down in history as factual! My point here being, that in the days of yore we were more simple-minded and people who resorted to wiles and tears went down in history as evil wenches or swains.

These are trying times. Social media and other visual media craftily do the thinking for us. They use sentimental soundtrack and linger for that extra minute on a tear that hovers precariously on an eyelash without falling. I am pretty sure you know I am talking about the infamous interview of the mixed race (almost) princess and her smitten husband. Everything in the US is like a giant soap-opera. The mere insinuation by some 'senior royals' that little (non) prince may not look pasty white, has sent shockwaves through an indignant nation. Oh, for heaven's sake! They should be in India, where every well-meaning uncle/aunt, stranger and veggie-vendor will first exclaim in dismay over your 'brown' baby, and then proceed to give you tips on how to lighten its skin. Your mother-in-law will look at you suspiciously, plaintively bellowing that the brownness must be a throwback to the 'bad' gene pool of the mother… Of course!

All this notwithstanding, my initial amusement turned to anger as the hoopla unfolded, with serious topics like racism, sexism, bullying and severe exclusion being bandied about. But wasn't this the very same successful strategy that the British used to conquer and rule half the world for centuries? Why is everybody getting their knickers in a knot now? Why are the sycophants shamelessly polishing boots while the other half are so shocked? I would think a 'senior' royal who had affiliations to the Nazi party and one of the princes being caught in a paedophile scandal is far more damaging. But to the rest of the ordinary folk like us… we avidly watch a drama unfolding, with non-issues and entitlement played out to the hilt! Ah yes! There is a shortage of Covid vaccines in these entitled countries, perhaps a little concentration on that issue will be more prudent, hmm?

In namma ooru, we continued to celebrate brown, black or polka-dotted women (I like that!). After a year of amusing myself and my readers, my good friend, avid golfer and Bonsai enthusiast Champa Kabra invited me to perform for the women golfers at BGC. The night was a riot as the ladies laughed, danced and tippled themselves into a tizzy.

My maverick friend Saritha Hegde, who gave up her flourishing corporate career to make indigenous sauces from home, celebrated her landmark birthday by taking her business pan-India by employing more women who have a stake in her business. This brassy, intelligent, motorcycle-riding woman is soft as putty when it comes to her bolder and brassier mom, who she has just nursed through an operation.

A few of us got together to eat at the new hot-spot Quattro. The food was outstanding and the company scintillating. We were loud, irreverent and boisterous… happy to be alive and well.

Strong women, may we be them, may we know them, may we raise them!

If regular chai is no longer your cup of tea, head to these city cafes that offer a fun and different take on the humble drink

TAMING OF THE BREW

SIMRAN AHUJA

Most days of the week, you can find Arvind Kewalchand brewing a hot cup of tea in the kitchen of his new eatery, Chaiffee Cafe. Like the regular cuppa, he starts with boiling some water and tea leaves. The next ingredients are predictable: Some spices, milk and sugar. But just when you think he's done, out comes a fresh, glossy green chilli. Kewalchand carefully chops it into four pieces and adds it to the tea. "This is a great variation of chai to have when you have a sore throat or congestion. Of even if you enjoy the spice kick," says Kewalchand, who established the cafe in JP Nagar in November last year. At ₹25, the 250ml of chai sure packs a punch.

The humble cup of tea is slowly getting a makeover in different parts of the city. At Atty's Bakery Church Street -- a small counter located next to Empire Restaurant -- you can not just drink your chai but eat it too. Say hello to the biscuit tea, which is served in an edible cup that you can savour after tea. "People in this city are always looking for something new and trendy. Our biscuit tea is a huge hit on social media too and we've seen people come even from Whitefield and Koramangala," says Mohammed Zahrin Bin Aziz, CEO and managing director. It took him and his team multiple trials before they narrowed down on one type of edible cup, which allows a person to sip the tea up till 15 minutes, before the biscuit exterior starts to turn soggy. "It's essentially a waffle cup that stays firm for 15 minutes. We source it from a vendor in Chennai, but when we start some more outlets, we may invest in a machine that allows us to make it ourselves," adds Zahrin, who wanted to cater to the bursting office crowd in and around the area. "The biscuit tea - which comes in plain and masala flavours - is priced between ₹40 and 45. For that much, you get a complete snack and drink that's perfect to indulge in during your break," he says.

> The chilli chai is a great variation of chai to have when you have a sore throat or congestion
>
> - Arvind Kewalchand, founder, Chaiffee Cafe

Like Zahrin, Kewalchand too spent a considerable amount of time perfecting his recipe. The trick, he now says with confidence, is to add the chilli to the tea after the milk. "That's when the spice hits just your throat and not your tongue. We also de-seed the chilli so it doesn't leave anyone's mouth on fire," he says.

But if something hot is not your cup of tea, especially during summer, head to Chai Nagri in Koramagala for a more refreshing drink. A similar drive to innovate is what prompted Divam Wadhwa to formulate chai shakes for the cafe, which has presence in various other cities in India, and opened doors in Bengaluru just a few months ago. "We needed something that would distinguish us from our competitors. So the chai shakes offer a cooler drink, with milk, ice cream and the same masala that you would typically use in tea," explains Wadhwa. Chai Nagri offers the chai shake in flavours like mint, cinnamon and saunf. While they now receive about 30-50 orders a day, Wadhwa hopes the rising temperatures will see a rise in the number of orders.

More experiments are still brewing. While Chai Nagri is looking at introducing a chai ice cream, Chaiffee is mulling over the idea of a paan chai. "Innovating helps us earn bigger margins too. We have to make five cups of regular tea to earn the same profit we would from one serving of the chai shake," says Wadhwa.

Kombucha is steadily being seen as a healthier alternative to carbonated drinks, especially in summer

Popping open a cold one

TAMANNA S MEHDI

Homebrewers are brewing kombucha and selling it in Instagram-ready packaging. This fermented tea drink, usually flavoured with fruit juices or spices, is now a fad. Not just as a drink on its own, but Kombucha also makes a good mixer for cocktails and mocktails. Soumya Kuthadi, a Hyderabad-based dietician, says: "Today's generation is on the lookout for a beverage that is low in sugar and has beneficial properties."

Kombucha is fermented black or green tea, made by combining brewed tea with a 'mother' or scoby (symbiotic culture of bacteria and yeast) sugar/jaggery, and sometimes with added flavours. Over the course of a couple of weeks, the sugar feeds the bacteria and yeast and the drink ferments into a tangy, slightly fizzy beverage. Shahryar Hamza, a golfer and MBA student, says, "It is more geared towards people who have a taste for sour flavours."

The beverage is known to appeal to health-conscious consumers. Sangeeta Raju, a nutritionist, says she lost two kg when she included the drink in her diet, and her skin has improved over time. Sudeep Kathuri, 23, a digital marketing specialist, says it has become a substitute for his morning green/black tea. Vaishnavi Dupaguntla, 26 recovering from a gut issue was recommended to take probiotic fermented drinks. She says, "I have improved energy levels and notice better gut health." VS Sivaji Raju, a businessman, and Annapoorna PK, 26, an MSc student both feel the drink is a good alternative for soda.

"Its popularity is driven by its supposed benefits of probiotics. The probiotics help with diarrhoea and irritable bowel syndrome," says Shanti Priya T, senior dietitian, Gleneagles Global Hospitals. However, she cautions that too much intake may lead to side effects such as nausea, dizziness, headache, hepatotoxicity and metabolic acidosis. It is not advisable for pregnant, breastfeeding women or those who have compromised immune system or pre-existing ailments. "Avoid excess consumption as evidence supporting its health benefits is lacking," she adds.

ROBERRT:

Darshan strikes a fine balance between class & mass in this revenge drama

A SHARADHAA

In what comes as a refreshing departure, Darshan-starrer Roberrt is anything but the typical action fare from the Challenging Star. The actor, who is known for his mass appeal, also delivers an all-round performance that establishes his class credentials as well.

Right in the opening number, Rama Rama, we see a conflict between good and evil in Darshan. Lucknow-based cook Raghav (Darshan), who lives a simple life, is a stammerer like his son Arjun. As the plot progresses, we get to know more about Raghav's past, which features him as the titular Roberrt. The link between the past and present forms the basis of this classic revenge drama. Darshan is impressive in all shades — gangster, faithful friend and a good father. Despite taking the tried and tested path, director Tharun Kishore Sudhir manages to inject a breath of freshness into the lead character and the plot.

The dialogues by KL Rajashekar are gripping and the cinematography by Sudhakar S Raj is grand. The background score by Harikrishna and songs by Arjun Janya are on point, and the unique stunt sequences of Roberrt cater to the die-hard fans of the Challenging Star. If Darshan as Raghav makes the audience feel like he is one among them, he exudes inimitable swag as the massy Roberrt replete with punch dialogues and intense action sequences. And Darshan effortlessly switches between the two, sometimes in the same scene. This is one of the star's best performances.

The other actors in the film are also perfectly cast. Darshan faces off against a host of antagonists including Jagapathi Babu, Ravi Kishen and Ravi Shankar. Vinod Prabhakar's pivotal role as well as Shivaraj KR Pete's performance are highlights of the film. Chikkanna is perfect in a role that requires him to play it subtle. It is Sonal Monterio's character that forms the soul of the film, while Asha Bhat, in her debut, shines in her scenes.

Although Tharun's exuberant revenge plot is predictable in parts, the twists and turns in the tale make Roberrt a good entertainer. The film rides on the able shoulders of Darshan, whose screen presence carries it through. Overall, both Darshan and Roberrt get it just about right in maintaining the balance between the mass & class elements.

JANHVI, RAJKUMMAR RAO STAR IN A SOULLESS AND SHRILL HORROR COMEDY

SHILAJIT MITRA

Just a few years into its revival, the Hindi horror-comedy has upped and died. The biggest blow was Laxmii (2020), with Akshay Kumar in a red saree, and now, another is dealt by Roohi, starring Janhvi Kapoor as a human-witch hybrid. It's fitting that her co-star here is Rajkummar Rao, and that the banner involved is Maddock Films. Having pretty much recouped the genre with the brilliant Stree (2018), they've now returned to tear it down.

Bhawra (Rajkummar) and Kattanni (Varun Sharma) are a couple of small-town reporters and hired crooks. They pick up Roohi (Janhvi) and drive off in a van. This is something they do: their boss (Manav Vij) arranges 'kidnapped' brides for paying customers. When the deal with Roohi falls through, the duo is forced to put her up in a cabin in the woods. The same night, while bringing her food, Bhawra sees her crawling up walls — and is scared out of his wits. He runs to Kattanni, who laughs it off as a 'hallucination'. The audience, though, knows what's up: Roohi is not one but two.

The film's trailer had suggested a potential love triangle in the mix. This is confirmed when Kattanni meets Afza, the sinister bride-stealing witch inside Roohi, and, instead of running, promptly falls for her. With Bharwa already smitten with her in human form, this creates a problem. They try to fight it out — writers Mrighdeep Lamba and Gautam Mehra already struggling with the bizarre conceit. Finally, it falls on Bharwa to find a way to exorcise Roohi, which brings them out of the woods and into a nearby temple town.

Roohi is directed by Hardik Mehta (Kaamyaab), and his retro aesthetics bleed into the film. The first time Kattani and Azfa come eye to eye, Tu Mera Superman plays on the soundtrack. It's an absurdly silly moment that just about works. The constant nods to American pop culture, however, distract from the folksy setting of this tale. This is where Roohi falls short. Stree, set in Chanderi, had a host of local mythologies to play on. It had a keen sense of time and place that cannot be transported to a fictional town. Also, Amar Kaushik's film had genuinely funny lines, whereas the humour in Roohi — though not slapstick — is all too rhyme-y and eager to tickle.

The Kattanni-Afza romance is a stretch; even inclined viewers will find their critical faculties challenged. And yet Varun, coyly nodding his head and making Bugs Bunny faces, sells it to us. It's fun to see him play off Rajkummar, whose comic talents frequently demand a partner (the part where Bhawra goes off on his own is the dullest in the film). Janhvi gets stuck in a role riddled with technicalities: her transformations are achieved mechanically, via VFX, with growling noises to boot. It isn't a flamboyant switch, à la Jim Carrey in The Mask, but, repeated too often, loses its sense of threat. The film doesn't bother to draw out its suspense gradually. By the time Afza is dangling off a ledge, framed by dark clouds, she's as scary as a house cat.

Like Jabadiya Jodi before it, Roohi is frighteningly casual about shotgun weddings. The frankness with which Bhawra and Kattanni bundle young girls into vans isn't met with any serious learning on their part. Hardik peppers their journey with all kinds of superstitious encounters; given the paranormal setting of the film, it's hard to make much of these scenes. The climax, meant to ape Stree's feminist send-off, further confirms this scatterbrained approach. "Cliché hain tu (You're a cliché)," Bhawra tells Kattanni at one point. He might as well be talking to the film.
